Georgia Railroads to Ask Commission for Revision Of the Intrastate Rates

Fight Before the Commerce Commission for Suspension of Higher Interstate Rates Will Be Followed by Another Battle Before the Georgia Railroad Board.

PROPOSED INCREASES IN TARIFFS IN STATE WOULD HURT ATLANTA

Members of Freight Bureau Will Meet Tonight to Consider Interstate Increases and Will Later Deal With the Intrastate Situation.

While the meeting of the Atlanta Freight bureau, in the Chamber of Commerce building, will consider only the proposed increases in interstate rates, which, under the rule of the interstate commerce commission, become effective January 1, 1916, it became known yesterday that this fight of the freight bureau will be followed by another, and for Atlanta and Georgia, probably a more important fight.

At the meeting tonight the Atlanta Freight bureau proposes to take action looking to prevailing upon the interstate commerce commission to suspend its order increasing the interstate freight tariffs.

Tonight's meeting is to be followed by another meeting, representing the southeast, to be held in Birmingham Thursday night.

REVISION OF RATES.

It is expected that the railroads of Georgia will file with the state railroad commission, some time between December 10 and December 15, a petition asking a general revision of intrastate rates in Georgia, upon the ground of making Georgia rates uniform with the proposed new interstate rates.

Such a general revision, it is stated, would mean a very material increase in intrastate rates in Georgia.

Harry T. Moore, secretary of the Atlanta Freight bureau, stated last night that the Atlanta Freight bureau will make a strenuous fight before the state railroad commission against the granting of any such petition, increasing the intrastate tariffs.

"No petition has yet been filed with the state railroad commission," said Mr. Moore, "and the freight bureau, therefore, cannot take up that matter now. I am aware, however, that a petition will likely be filed with the Georgia railroad commission asking a revision of intrastate tariffs, resulting in an increase of such rates. Should this be done, the bureau will oppose it. The bureau, of course, cannot take formal action opposing such a requested revision until a petition has been formally filed with the railroad commission."

It is known that the railroads of the state have for some time been preparing their tentative revisions of intrastate tariffs to make them conform to the expected revision of interstate rates, with a view of submitting these tentative rates to the Georgia railroad commission with a petition asking that these rates be put into effect.

It is understood that this petition will be filed with the commission some time between December 10 and 15, and that while the proposed general revision will include many reductions in rates the increases will be much more than sufficient to offset the decreases. Although the railroad figures have not yet been given out as to the revision of intrastate rates, it is understood that the proposed revision will result in an average increase of some 28 per cent in rates upon freight moving inside the limits of the state of Georgia.

The decreases will come upon long hauls, while there will be increases on short hauls. Some of these increases, it is said, will amount to approximately 100 per cent. It is also reported that Atlanta will suffer by the increases more than any other one shipping center in the state.

DISTRICT SCHOOLS PROFIT $110,000 BY ERROR IN BILL

Legislators Authorized Increase of $15,000 Each Annually Under Impression They Were Voting Only $5,000.

NO ACTION YET TAKEN BY GOVERNOR HARRIS

If He Signs Measure, Agricultural Colleges Will Get $25,000 a Year Instead of $10,000, the Regular Appropriation.

One of the most extraordinary discoveries of provisions of bills passed by the extraordinary session of the general assembly, which adjourned last week, is that the bill introduced by Mr. Stewart, of Coffee, increasing the appropriation to the district agricultural schools, instead of granting a total appropriation of $165,000, which was the general impression at the time the bill passed, gives a total appropriation of $275,000, an increase of $110,000 more than was intended.

There are eleven district agricultural and mechanical schools in Georgia. Under the existing appropriation each of these schools gets an annual appropriation of $10,000, making a total of $110,000, which money comes out of the net revenue derived from the sale of fertilizer tags and the inspection of oil and gasoline through the state agricultural department.

Mr. Stewart, of Coffee county, at the extra session, introduced a bill increasing this appropriation.

During argument upon this bill it was repeatedly stated upon the floor of the house that the $10 appropriation of these schools should receive annually $15,000, or so much thereof as the net revenue from the sale of fertilizer tags and oil and gasoline inspections would afford. In other words, the old appropriation was to have been increased by $5,000 to each school, or a total increase to all of $55,000.

Instead of this proposed increase, however, it has been discovered that the bill makes the increase to each school $15,000, or a total appropriation to each school of $25,000. This would mean a total appropriation for the eleven schools of $275,000, an increase of $165,000.

The governor has not yet signed the bill making the increase, but even should he sign it it is doubtful whether the net revenue from the sources designated will provide enough money to meet such an increased appropriation next year.

Would-Be Suicide Tries to Borrow Officer's Pistol

"I Just Want to Go Over Here on Corner and Kill Myself," Cushman Tells Policeman Jackson.

Although many peculiar requests are made of Atlanta's policemen, probably the most unusual which has been made in a long time was that of E. Cushman, 38-year-old resident of the Henderson hotel, who approached Officer I. E. Jackson, on Peachtree street, Sunday evening, and asked to borrow the officer's gun with which to kill himself.

Officer Jackson was standing near the corner of Peachtree and Walton streets, about 7 o'clock last night. He was watching traffic and not paying particular atention to a man who slowly approached him from the side.

Feeling a touch on his sleeve, Jackson turned to look at Cushman and hear the latter ask for a pistol.

"You want my what?" he queried above the noise of passing vehicles.

"I want you to lend me your pistol a minute; I just want to go over here on the corner and kill myself," replied Cushman, quietly.

"Say, bo, you may be joking, and you may not, but believe me, you better run along and not get this pistol," replied the officer, "for it sure will kill you."

Jackson later told Assistant Chief of Police E. L. Jett that he thought the mysterious acting man was joking with him, but realized suddenly that he was in dead earnest.

"When I saw that he really wanted my gun and was going to make an effort to kill himself if he could get a pistol of any kind," said Jackson, "I thought I had better arrest him."

At the station house Cushman still claimed that he wanted a good gun to shoot himself with.

In his pockets were found a stack of pawn tickets, calling for articles of every kind, from an overcoat to a set of books. He did not explain their presence in his pocket.

Chief Jett stated that the man would be held for investigation. If he is suffering from mental weakness his relatives will be located and notified. The pawn tickets will also be investigated, according to the chief.

Until further action is taken Cushman will be held at headquarters charged with suspicion.

EGYPT READY TO REPEL ATTACKS BY THE ARABS

Cairo, Egypt, November 28.—Aggression against frontier posts by western Arabs has not been serious and an ample defensive force has been gathered, says an official report issued here. The statement says:

"The chief reason of the Senussi continues to maintain an entirely friendly attitude toward the government, but certain hostile agencies have succeeded in inducing some western Arabs to commit minor aggressive acts against our frontier posts. In pursuance of the government's policy of removing any possible cause for trouble or friction at the smaller frontier posts, an ample force now has been concentrated at Matrus to protect our Arabs against any aggression."

ENVOYS OF THE WOMEN MAY ADDRESS CONGRESS

Washington, November 28.—The Congressional Union for Woman suffrage announced tonight that congress would be asked to permit two envoys from women voters of the west to speak from the floor of the house. Many precedents are cited. If the permission is granted, the announcement says, the speakers will be Miss Frances Joliffe, of California, and Mrs. Sarah Field Bard, of Chicago.

"CEASE FIRING! TAKE BOYS FROM TRENCHES!" FORD'S PEACE MISSION WILL TELL EUROPE

In the hope of bringing about at least a temporary cessation of hostilities, "to take the boys out of the trenches for Christmas," as one report of his words put it, Henry Ford has chartered the steamer Oscar II. and will set sail on December 4 for Europe. He will be accompanied by several prominent peace advocates, both men and women. "The time has come to say 'Cease firing,'" said Mr. Ford. The "peace ship's" idea is not original with Henry Ford, nor is it a new idea. It was first proposed by Mme. Rosika Schwimmer, of Budapest, Hungary, secretary of the international equal suffrage council, who placed it before the national peace conference in Chicago on February 27 of this year. Mr. Ford has asked many prominent persons to sail with him, and a large number have expressed sympathy with his ideas.

FORMER ATLANTA WOMAN DIES IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Mrs. Harry Massell Killed and Four Others Injured Near Thomasville.

Thomasville, Ga., November 28.—(Special.)—Mrs. Harry Massell, who came here with her husband from Atlanta two years ago, was instantly killed this afternoon in an automobile accident two miles from Thomasville. Mr. Massell was bruised and three young women injured.

The car, carrying five passengers, turned over on a stretch of road near "Long Curve," all the occupants being thrown from the car. In turning over, the hub of the rear wheel struck Mrs. Massell on the head, crushing her skull and causing death almost instantly.

The car was borrowed for the afternoon, Mr. Massell driving it. He was inexperienced and in going too rapidly up the hill suddenly lost control of the machine. Those who saw the accident state there was no apparent cause for it, as it happened on a smooth stretch of road and no other car was near to make the turnout necessary.

Those injured are Harry Massell, bruised about face and left shoulder; Mrs. Max Nathan, of Tifton, bruised on left side of face and body; Miss Eleanor Nathan, Tifton, bruised on face; Miss Clara Canter, daughter of a Jewish rabbi, of this city, arm broken at shoulder and above wrist. Miss Canter is the only woman painfully hurt, the others only suffering injuries that are inconsequential. The women came from Tifton and were visitors in the city to attend a Jewish celebration. Mrs. Massell had been a resident of this city for two years and came here with her husband, who is in business here, from Atlanta.

Mrs. Harry Massell, who was killed Sunday in an automobile accident near Thomasville, was an Atlanta girl formerly Miss Annie Rittenbaum, and lived with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Rittenbaum, at 381 Woodward avenue. She was married about two years ago to Harry Massell and moved with her husband to Thomasville.

TROOPS TO ENFORCE LAWS OF LOUISIANA

New Orleans, November 28.—Declaring that disregard for the state laws must come to an end in Jefferson parish, Governor L. E. Hall announced here tonight that he had ordered the Bogalusa company of the Louisiana national guard held in its quarters to await further orders, and that Adjutant General McNease had been instructed to report for duty tomorrow. General McNease will meet Governor Hall here, it was said, and confer with him as regards the situation. The governor declined to state whether he would proclaim martial law in the parish.

A detachment of state troops yesterday upon orders of the governor raided an alleged lottery shop in Southport, a suburb of this city just across the Jefferson parish line, and arrested about sixty alleged employees and patrons of the establishment. The proprietors and employees of the establishment were delivered to the Jefferson parish authorities today and later were released on bond. The patrons, after they had been photographed for purposes of identification, were released upon giving their names to the sheriff. They will be summoned as witnesses at the trial of the alleged lottery operators.

Yesterday's raid in Southport was the second made there by state troops within the last three months. Of more than 100 persons taken in the first raid only thirteen were brought to trial and these recently were acquitted because of the failure of the authorities to produce witnesses against them.

Governor Hall in explaining the previous raid stated that he had been forced to call upon the state troops because the parish authorities had failed to enforce the laws, although he repeatedly had requested them to do so.

Two Men Are Held For Mock Wedding; Bride Now Very Ill

Detectives Say That John Drake, Groom, Is Married Man, and That His Friend, W. E. Browning, Acted Role of Minister.

After a whirlwind courtship of six weeks, at the end of which he was united it is alleged, in a mock marriage to Miss Clara Griffin, 25 years old, of 21 Markham street, by W. E. Browning, a friend who played preacher, John Drake, a married man, with a wife and four children, living in Bellwood, is being held in the Fulton county Tower unable to make bond of $1,000. Browning is at police barracks under a bond of $500, and Miss Griffin is dangerously ill at her residence.

Browning and Drake were arrested by Chief of Detectives Newport Lanford, Sunday. Sunday night the story was told to a reporter for The Constitution.

Whirlwind Courtship.

According to detectives, Drake met pretty Miss Griffin exactly six weeks ago, courted and won the girl under pretense that he was a single man, and at last convinced her that they should marry.

The date for the wedding was set for last Monday, November 22, and at the bride's home all was made ready for the big event.

The bridegroom appeared on the spot with Browning, who, it is alleged, acted the role of the minister.

With all due ceremony the service was performed and the couple began their honeymoon at the bride's home. All went well until three days later a relative of Miss Griffin was told of the wedding. Then trouble started.

Drake disappeared, detectives say, and a hunt for him was started by the relative with other relatives helping. Before they could find him, however, he was in the hands of the law and behind the Tower bars.

Later the friend who is charged with masquerading as a minister was also arrested and confined in the police barracks. There he will be tried before Recorder Johnson at 8:30 o'clock this morning.

Would Not Believe Stories.

At the first rumor that everything was not as it should be with her supposed husband, detectives stated that Miss Griffin had turned deaf ears and would not listen to anything which well-meaning relatives and friends tried to tell her.

"She was wrapped up in the man," stated the officers, "and would believe no stories against him until one day she was shown, without the shadow of a doubt, that he was guilty."

When she was told of the wife and four children in East Atlanta, the girl collapsed. Physicians were called to attend her.

Browning admitted to officers that he had performed the ceremony, it is said. He registered at police headquarters as 36 years of age, living at 31 Curran street.

CANADIAN WHEAT TAKEN FOR BRITAIN

About 20,000,000 Bushels in Elevators Has Been Commandeered—Price Has Not Yet Been Fixed.

Ottawa, November 28.—The Canadian government has commandeered all high-grade wheat in elevators from Fort William, on Lake Superior, to the Atlantic coast.

The action was taken by the Canadian grain commission under the special war act. The wheat seized was of grades 1 hard and 1, 2 and 3 northern. It was the property of grain shippers and millers. That taken is all which on Saturday night was on public elevators at Fort William, Port Arthur, Midland, Tiffin, Port McNichol, Collingwood, Goderich, Kingston, Port Colborne, Precott, Quebec, St. John, Montreal and Halifax.

A revised estimate places the amount at about 20,000,000 bushels. A considerable amount is the property of American grain dealers.

The grain was taken Saturday night so that grain exchanges should be affected as little as possible. It is stated officially that the price will be fairly adjusted and the grain owners promptly paid by the Canadian government. It is estimated that there still is in Canada in the hands of farmers and dealers west of Fort William 150,000,000 bushels surplus of wheat available for export. It is expected that most of this will be taken in the future for the use of Great Britain, France and Italy. The domestic supply of Russia is more than sufficient to meet the needs of that country. Had the Dardanelles been forced the surplus of Russian wheat would have made the present action unnecessary. While the wheat just taken was commandeered to fill an order from the British government for a large quantity of wheat, it is understood most of it will be shipped to Italy.

The Canadian government will look after the transportation of the grain to the Atlantic seaboard and from there its shipment across the Atlantic will be undertaken by the British government in the same way that oats and hay have been handled for the past year.

For some months negotiations have proceeded between the British authorities and the Canadian government relative to marketing of the wheat crop, but only on Saturday were instructions received in connection with the expropriation.

This year's Canadian wheat crop is put at 350,000,000 bushels. For export the surplus is expected to exceed 200,000,000 bushels. The present order goes no further than the amount stated, but it is announced that large supplies are needed, and it is considered more than likely that more wheat will be required on similar lines later.

Although commandeering wheat is radical, it is not unusual in wartime. The Canadian government is dealing only with the British government, and the disposal of the grain so acquired will rest with the home ministry.

Statement by Government.

The following official statement was issued by the government tonight:

"The phenomenal crop of wheat in the Canadian west has brought upon the government the duty of assisting to the farthest extent possible in its marketing. The supply of wheat the world over is known to have been abundant and the importance of taking advantage of every opportunity to provide for the disposing of our grain is on that account the greater. For many months the government has been in touch with the British authorities with a view to procuring orders from the United Kingdom and the allied governments in order that the utmost share of the consuming demand in those countries may be turned toward our Canadian surplus. As a consequence of this the British government has requested the Canadian government to provide within a short time a very large supply of Nos. 1, 2 and 3 northern wheat.

"The problem of meeting these re-

SERB ARMY REMNANTS HAVE SOUGHT ASYLUM ON MONTENEGRO SOIL

King Peter's Troops Join Army of King Nicholas and, Reinforced by Supplies From the Adriatic, Continue to Offer Stern Resistance to the Invaders.

GERMANS ARE CLAIMING VICTORY IS COMPLETE IN SERBIAN CAMPAIGN

Berlin Says Operations Have Been Closed, as the Serb Army Has Been Practically Destroyed and Way Has Been Opened to Turkey—Bulgars and Germans Disagree About Attacking the Allied Troops in South Serbia—Rumania Worrying Teutons, and Allies Anxious About Greece.

London, November 28.—The greater portion of what remains of the Serbian northern army is believed to have crossed into the mountains of Albania and Montenegro, where the Serbs, with the aid of King Nicholas' troops and supplies reaching them from the Adriatic, are continuing to offer stern resistance to the Austro-German and Bulgarian invaders. Like the Belgians, however, the Serbians hold only a fringe of their country, which widens as it reaches the northwestern corner, of which Monastir is the center.

BULGARS DELAYING MARCH ON MONASTIR.

For some reason, variously explained, the Bulgarians have halted their march on Monastir. Some dispatches say that having reoccupied the part of Macedonia largely inhabited by their fellow nationals, the Bulgarian people and government are disinclined to push farther west, and on this point are in disagreement with their Austro-German allies, who are determined to drive not only the Serbians and Montenegrins but the French and British troops out of the Balkans.

Though at the present time they have largely superior forces the task may prove a difficult one. Winter has set in and the natives predict that it will be severe. Snow fell at Saloniki Saturday for the first time in eight years, which is taken as a sign that in the mountains of the peninsula there will be a heavy fall.

During the latter part of the week continuous storms compelled the suspension of operations, giving the French and British time to bring up reinforcements, being landed at Saloniki, and to consolidate their positions.

TEUTONS KEEPING WATCH ON RUMANIA.

The Austro-Germans have had to divert part of their armies down the Danube to the Rumanian border, Rumania having refused the German request for the opening of the Danube throughout its entire length to enable the Germans to send supplies to Bulgaria and Turkey. Rumania insisted that armed ships must not pass Baba, which is on the Danube at the Rumanian-Bulgarian frontier.

With the concentration of the Russians, too, the attitude of Rumania is becoming daily more pro-ally, and the Austro-Germans having aided Bulgaria in her campaign against Serbia, which is now cleared, is called upon to protect her against aggression from the east.

Russian warships, including new dreadnaughts, again have been seen off the Black sea coast of Bulgaria, but there is no news of any landing or movement of troops.

ALLIES ANXIOUS ABOUT GREECE.

German anxiety over Rumania is matched by that of the allied powers with regard to Greece. Last week it was believed that all difficulties between Greece and the allies had been mounted, but it was found necessary to send another note to Greece, the reply to which is promised Monday.

The allies now demand not only assurance of the safety of their troops, but adequate railway facilities for their transport, the withdrawal of Greek troops from the vicinity of Saloniki

TURK SUBMARINE HELPS TO RESCUE 250 PASSENGERS

Twenty-Five of Those on Board the Steamer Barulos Were Drowned in Panic Caused by Undersea Boat.

WOMEN AND CHILDREN LEAPED INTO THE SEA

Officer of Submarine Cried, "We Are Not Murderers," and Went to Work to Save the Drowning People.

New York, November 28.—A Turkish submarine stopped the British passenger ship Barulos in the Mediterranean, and after twenty-five persons had been drowned, helped rescue many of the 250 passengers who had gone overboard, according to Eleanor Franklin Egan, an eye-witness, who arrived today on the steamship New York.

The Barulos, according to Mrs. Egan, who is a writer, returning from a six months' trip through southern Europe, left Piraeus for Alexandria, October 2. The ship flew the British flag, but her crew was Greek. The passengers, mostly third-class, were chiefly Greeks and Orientals. When about five hours south of Crete the ship picked up three boats containing the crew of the British steamship Sailor Prince, which had been sunk by a submarine.

Shot by Submarine Caused Panic.

The Barulos, Mrs. Egan said, carried only four life boats, each with a capacity of thirty persons. The picking up of the crew of the Sailor Prince created a feeling of excitement which was at fever heat when suddenly a submarine came to the surface about two miles distant and fired a shot over the Barulos, evidently as a signal for her to stop.

"Instantly a wild panic broke loose," said Mrs. Egan. "The four life boats were resting in their chocks, while swung alongside were the two boats in which the men from the Sailor Prince had made their escape.

"Led by the crew and the fireroom force, the passengers rushed for the boats. Women, unable to go to the boats, threw their children into the sea and jumped after them. Frightened sailors cut the ropes holding the small boats, and when the boats crashed into the water three of the six were swamped and emptied of their human loads.

"I was at the rail when the submarine appeared, and I started back toward the stairs leading below, with the idea of helping to quell the panic. I was caught in the rush and literally forced over the side into the sea. I had a hard time to keep above the water, my difficulties being aggravated by the struggles of others trying to catch hold of me.

"We are Not Murderers."

"It seemed that I had no sooner struck the water than the submarine appeared under the bows of our ship. On her deck I saw a number of men with an officer whom I took to be an Austrian. The submersible had her collapsible life boat out, and the submarine crew were pulling people out of the water onto her deck. The officer was holding up his hands shouting to the people in the water to be calm. I heard him say in perfect English: 'For God's sake go back to your ship, we are not murderers.'

"By this time I had worked my way some distance from the ship, and seeing one of the lifeboats near I held up my hand and called for help. The people in the boat responded and, after a second attempt, threw a line to me when I was all but exhausted.

"The first of the panic over, we rowed back to the Barulos and were taken aboard. Women and children, many in a half-drowned state, were crowding the deck of the submarine, which remained alongside. When all the rescued were returned to the Barulos, a toll showed that twenty-five were missing, fourteen children, seven women and four men. Two of the latter were British sailors from the Sailor Prince, who lost their lives diving overboard with their mates rescuing children.

"In addition to the twenty-five drowned many were wounded in the panic. Several of the most serious were taken into the submarine and treated by our ship doctor, who went aboard at the invitation of the submarine commander."

Heartrending Scenes.

Mrs. Egan said she witnessed many heartrending scenes.

"One woman," she said, "who had lost her three children by throwing them overboard, went stark-mad. In the steerage was a troop of Japanese acrobats. One of them, a woman, with an infant child, was seen almost exhausted trying to cling to the sides of the ship. She was surrounded by many others. A rope was thrown into her hands, but looking up, she exclaimed in English: 'Don't mind me. I belong to no one, and have no one to care for me. Help some one else.'

"With these words she passed the rope to another woman and, with her babe in her arms, sank from sight.

"The rescued British sailors proved heroes. They not only tried to quell

CAMPAIGN CLOSED AGAINST SERBIANS, GERMANY ASSERTS

Berlin, November 28.—(Via London.) With the occupation of Rudnik, the capture of 2,700 prisoners and the flight of the "scanty remains" of the Serbian army into the Albanian mountains, Germany's operations against Serbia have been brought to a close, says a general staff statement issued today. The object of the operations—the opening of communications with Bulgaria and the Turkish empire—has been accomplished, it is asserted.

Tribute Paid to Troops.

Tribute is paid not only to the bravery and endurance of the Austro-German troops, but to the Serbians as well. The claim is made that more than 100,000 prisoners, nearly fifty per cent of the Serbian effectives, have been captured. German losses are said to have been "extremely moderate," and there were no disease epidemics. The communication reads:

"Balkan theater: Southwest of Mitrovitza, Rudnik was occupied. We took more than 2,700 prisoners and much war material.

"With the flight of the scanty remains of the Serbian artillery into the Albanian mountains our great operations against the same are brought to a close, our object of effecting communication with Bulgaria and the Turkish empire having been accomplished.

"The movements of the army of Field Marshal von Mackensen: The operations of the Austro-Hungarian army under General Koevess which was reinforced by German troops, against the Drina and the Save; the operations of the army under General von Gallwitz against the Danube near Semendria and Rambasias were commenced on October 6 and the advance of the arm under General Boyadjieff (Bulgarian) against the Negotin-Pierot line began October 14. The same day a second Bulgarian army under General Theodorow also commenced operations in the direction of Skoplje and Veles.

What Invaders Have Accomplished.

"Since then our troops have accomplished quickly and smoothly the formidable undertaking of crossing the Danube in the face of the enemy, impeded moreover by the untimely Kossovo assault and have captured all the enemy frontier fortresses at Belgrade, at the taking of which the Austro-Hungarian Eighth army corps with the Brandenburg reserves, especially distinguished themselves. Zajecar, Kajezevac and Pierot fell into the hands of the Bulgarians. In addition to this our troops have completely broken the tough resistance of the enemy, which, in addition to being supported by the nature of the country, is inured to war and fought bravely. Neither impenetrable roads, impassable mountains, thickly snow-clad, nor the absence of reinforcements and shelter were able to check our advance. More than 100,000 men, almost half the entire Serbian fighting forces, have been taken prisoners. Their losses in battle and by desertions cannot be estimated. Guns, including heavy artillery, and an incalculable quantity of material of all kinds have been captured. The German losses, however deplorable, have been extremely moderate and our troops have not suffered from disease."

Spoils for Invaders.

The Overseas News agency says that Major Moraht, military critic of The Tageblatt, writing of the Serbian campaign, declares the uninterrupted march of the Austro-German armies through 135 miles of difficult and inhospitable country, notwithstanding bad weather and impracticable roads, is paralleled in the world's history only by the advance against the Russians in the present war. Major Moraht declares that up to the present 136,070 Serbians have been made prisoner, while 627 cannon and 59 machine guns have been taken. The remainder of the Serbian army, he believes, probably will continue the campaign as irregulars or will join the Franco-British forces, like the Belgians, as "vanquished and little esteemed mercenary troops."

Vienna, November 28.—(Via London.) The Austrian war office tonight issued the following:

"Southeastern theater: Austro-Hungarian troops fighting on the northern Montenegrin frontier yesterday repulsed the enemy over the Metalka ridge. The border region of Celebric was also cleared. An Austro-Hungarian column, advancing from Mitrovitza, has reached the Montenegrin frontier along the road to Ipek. Thirteen hundred prisoners were captured in this region.

"The Bulgarians have occupied Goles and Brdo, southwest of Pristina, and the heights west of Perizovic."

SITUATION OF ALLIES STYLED "DESPERATE."

Berlin, November 28.—(By Wireless to Sayville.)—"The entente allies' situation in the Balkans is desperate," says an announcement today by the Overseas agency. French losses on the Krivolak line are estimated at 20,000 dead, while retreat is extremely difficult.

"If the occupation of Monastir by the Bulgarians becomes necessary, the Bulgarian government will give a definite promise to Greece that the occupation will be only temporary, and that it is caused only by the most stringent military necessity."

TEUTONS TO DRIVE AT MONASTIR.

London, November 28.—A statement contained in a recent Montenegrin official communication that Austro-German military authorities had been for several days past preparing to inaugurate a main action against Montenegro, is confirmed, according to well-informed observers in Amsterdam.

The Telegram, published in Amsterdam, states that now that the war against Serbia being nearly ended, action against Montenegro may be taken in hand with the utmost vigor. The article continues with the statement that the Austro-German troops are advancing victoriously at several points on the Montenegrin frontier and declares that before long the Montenegrins will be forced back into their own territory, where, deprived of supplies and munitions, they will finish their role in the war.

BULGARS PRESS ATTACK ON SERBS.

Paris, November 28.—The Serbians who occupied Brod and Krushevo, north of Monastir, Friday entered Movak the following day, says a Havas dispatch from Monastir. The attacks of two divisions of Bulgarians (24,000) against 10,000 Serbs in this district have become more vigorous.

Action of the Bulgarians against Monastir is believed to have been delayed, pending the arrival of reinforcements. Wounded Serbians have been transferred to Albania from the military hospitals at Monastir.

LAST DITCH FIGHT FOR MONTENEGRO.

Paris, November 28.—The Montenegrin consul general at Paris has received the following dispatch from Cettinje, under date of November 27:

"King Nicholas has addressed an energetic proclamation to the people. He urges them to remain calm in the face of the danger which threatens Montenegro and recalls the heroic defense of Serbia now invaded.

"The Serbian army has been obliged to retreat toward the mountains of Montenegro, where the forces of the two Serb kingdoms, united against common foes, will resist valiantly. Faithful to its traditions, Montenegro will carry on the struggle until death, which it would prefer to slavery. The allies have undertaken to revictual the population of Montenegro and the army. The latter will defend the glorious soil of its native land without sparing blood. It will fight from mountain to mountain around its king, with the ardor that full confidence in a definite victory for Montenegro and its great allies gives."

BULGARS PREPARE FOR THE RUSSIANS.

London, November 29.—The Times' Bucharest correspondent says:

"In view of the threatened Russian intervention, preparations for defense are proceeding actively along the whole Bulgarian frontier under German supervision. Troops are being brought up from the Serbian front and about four divisions of General von Der Goltz's army are reported to have joined the Bulgarian forces. The Turkish and Bulgarian armies are now being well supplied with ammunition by way of the Danube.

"The Bulgarian losses in the Serbian campaign include many officers of high rank. Among the dead are the son of the Bulgarian minister at Washington (Stephan Panaretoff) and the famous insurge chief, Tchernopeef.

"The plan of campaign designed and executed by the Bulgarian general Boyadjieff has won warm praise from the German generals."

COST OF RETREAT TO THE SERBIANS.

London, November 29.—The Daily Chronicle's Saloniki correspondent says he is informed from Serbian quarters that the cost of the Serbian retreat during the past two months has been 15,000 men taken prisoner, 4,000 killed and 17,000 wounded.

"Thus," says the correspondent, "the main object of the Austro-Germans, which was the rounding up of the Serbian army, may definitely be declared to have failed. The strategy of the Serbian commander-in-chief, General Putnik, has been brilliant, especially considering the difficulties of roads and the lack of railway communications. King Peter, although seriously ill, remains with his army."

A Daily Telegraph dispatch from Athens says definitely that the Serbians have been compelled to abandon the thousands of refugees gathered on the plain of Kossovo to the mercy of the invaders.

GERMANY FORCED TO CHANGE PLANS.

London, November 29.—The London morning newspapers today lay emphasis on the German official report announcing the "conclusion" of the main operations against the Serbians as pointing to an important change in the Balkan situation.

The Daily Mail's Odessa correspondent says he learns that Enver Pasha, the Turkish minister of war, and General von Falkenhayn, chief of the German staff, have conferred at Orsova on the Danube, on "far-reaching alterations in the plan of the Balkan campaign caused by unexpected developments in the movements of the entente allies."

The Daily Mail says it suspects that these alterations are necessitated by a threatened Russian army concentration at the mouth of the Danube and by the threatening attitude of Rumania.

ITALIANS DEALING SMASHING BLOWS AT AUSTRIAN LINE

Fierce Offensive Is Waged Along the Entire Front, and the Austrians Are Being Hard Pressed.

SHELLS ARE RAINING ON THE GORIZIA SECTOR

And Fall of the Austrian Stronghold Is Again Reported—Artillery Actions General on Western Front.

London, November 28.—Aside from Serbia, the Austro-Italian theater is furnishing the most violent fighting of any of the war zones. Along the entire littoral front the Italians are on the offensive. Shells are raining on the Gorizia sector, while the Italian infantry have fiercely attacked at Oslavia, on the Podgora height, and the Doberdo plateau. They penetrated the Austrian positions, but, according to Vienna, later were driven out.

Artillery bombardments and sapping operations have prevailed everywhere on the French line except near Berry-Au-Bac, where a strong German reconnaissance was dispersed by the French fire, and north of "The Labyrinth," where the Germans occupied an excavation caused by the explosion of a mine.

French aeroplanes have bombarded German aircraft hangers at Habsheim, east of Muelhausen, and French and German aviators have had thrilling fights in the air, in which four German machines were brought down.

On the Russian front, except for a small engagement in the Riga district, there has been no fighting, while on the Gallipoli peninsula only artillery actions and mining operations have been in progress of late.

GORIZIA TAKEN, GENEVA HEARS.

Geneva, November 28.—(Via Paris.) Reports from Chiasso, on the Swiss-Italian border, say that Gorizia has fallen, the Italians having entered the town from the north.

There is no official confirmation. The Italians have been attacking Gorizia for months. The city is the Austrian stronghold on the Isonzo front and the main defense of Trieste.

ITALIANS FAIL, SAY AUSTRIANS.

Vienna, November 28.—(Via London.)—The following official communication from general headquarters was issued today:

"Italian front: On the whole littoral front the Italians continued attacking actively. In their unsuccessful attempts yesterday they lost heavily. The most stubborn battle was fought at the Gorizia bridgehead, where the enemy uninterruptedly attacked with all his fresh and strong forces, especially near Oslavia, where they attempted to break through along the road.

"For a short time the summit northeast of Oslavia was in the hands of the enemy, but after a heavy fire by our artillery the troops regained all their original trenches, storming them.

"The Italians also penetrated our position at Podgora, but were driven out and afterward pursued by an efficacious fire. The ground before the bridgehead was covered with enemy dead. Near Oslavia alone we counted a thousand bodies.

"On the border of the Doberdo plateau the Italians limited their operations to an attack southwest of San Marino, which was repulsed. Equally unsuccessful were all attacks in the northern Isonzo sector, near Zagora, against several points of the Tolmino bridgehead, at Mrzlivrh, where 400 bodies were left in front of our position, and on the Orsic position.

"The situation on the other parts of the front is unchanged. The Isonzo front is firmly in the hands of our troops.

"On the Tyrolean frontier the Italians attacked our position on the western slopes of Monte Piano and near the Schluderbach frontier bridge and were repulsed.

HEROIC DEEDS ARE REPORTED.

Berlin, November 28.—(By Wireless to Sayville.)—Many heroic deeds are reported from the battle ground around Oslavia. The Italians fight bravely, and several times, by numerical superiority, have entered Austro-Hungarian positions, but always have been ejected by Dalmatian infantry, says the Overseas agency.

These Dalmatians are noted for their tenacious fighting, and are feared in the hand to hand combats because of their ability in handling knives. Houses around the church at Oslavia occupied during the night by 500 Italians were stormed with the bayonet in the morning by Dalmatians. After the guards had been killed the remainder of the Italians surrendered.

FRENCH REPULSE GERMAN ATTACKS.

Paris, November 28.—A German attack north of "The Labyrinth" after the explosion of a mine was repulsed by violent fighting, according to today's war office statement. The German's, however, succeeded in occupying the excavation caused by the explosion of the mine. There was also fighting during the night with hand grenades at the fortifications of Givenchy and in the region between Roclincourt and the Chantecler farm, but elsewhere quiet prevailed.

French aviators, the report states, dropped bombs on the railway station of Noyon and forced two German captive balloons and an aeroplane to descend.

The communication says:

"In Artois the night was marked by active bomb and hand grenade fighting at the fortifications of Givenchy and in the region between Roclincourt and the Chantecler farm.

"To the north of 'The Labyrinth' the enemy after having exploded a mine in front of one of our works delivered an attack. Violent fighting followed, which terminated to our advantage. The enemy did not succeed in reaching our trench. He was only able to occupy the crater formed by the explosion of the mine. There is nothing to report on the rest of the front.

"Yesterday our aviators dropped nine bombs on the railroad station at Noyin and compelled two captive balloons to descend. This morning to the northeast of Thesey St. Martin, in the region of Pont-a-Mousson, one of our aeroplanes engaged a German machine and caused it to fall within the enemy's lines."

The following communication was issued by the war office tonight:

"Beyond the usual cannonade there is nothing to report along the entire front except to the west of Berry-au-Bac, where a strong enemy reconnaissance was dispersed by our fire.

"During the course of the day our aviators continued most active. In Belgium one of our aeroplanes setting out in pursuit of a squadron, succeeded in bringing down a German aeroplane, which fell into the sea off Westende-Bains. A torpedo boat and German small boats started out from Ostend and Middelkerke for the purpose of rescue. Allied hydro-aeroplanes and artillery attacked the small boats and succeeded in sinking one of them.

"A squadron of ten aeroplanes has bombarded the hangars at Habsheim, east of Muelhausen. Eight shells, of 155 millimeters, and twenty shells of 90 millimeters were dropped on the hangars, which caught fire. One aeroplane on the ground was damaged by our projectiles.

"The enemy vainly attempted to pursue. One areoplane (Aviatik) struck by several bullets from a machine gun, was obliged to land. Another capsized near Lutterbach.

"In the region of Nancy a German areoplane was attacked by one of our pursuit aeroplanes. The French machine coming to close quarters with the adversary, succeeded in cutting it down. Another German aeroplane which took part in the combat, turned tail.

"Belgian official communication reads: 'The night and day were calm, there being only slight artillery activity. Enemy aeroplanes dropped a few bombs on our front.'

"Expeditionary corps of the Dardanelles: On November 26 and 27 there was marked activity on the part of both artilleries. The enemy exploded in front of our lines a mine, which did no damage. On our left the Turks, for the first time, employed suffocating gases against the British, without obtaining any results."

CRATERS TAKEN BY GERMANS.

Berlin, November 28.—(Via London.) The German war office today issued the following:

"Western theater: After successful mine explosions in the neighborhood of Neuville between Arras and Lens our troops occupied the craters and took several prisoners. At various points on the front there were hand grenade and mine throwing battles. In the Champagne and Argonne enemy artillery displayed considerable activity.

"Eastern theater: Army group of Field Marshal von Hindenberg: An enemy aeroplane was shot down by machine gun fire near Buschlouf, southwest of Jacobstadt. It fell between our positions and those of the enemy, but was secured at night by our patrols.

"Army group of Prince Leopold of Bavaria: Northwest of Baronvichi Russian advance was repulsed.

"Army group of General von Linsingen: There is nothing to report."

TURKS REPORT MINOR SUCCESSES.

Amsterdam, November 28.—(Via London.)—The following Turkish official statement regarding operations at the Dardanelles has been received here:

"On Thursday and Friday there was artillery and bomb fighting. Near Anafarta our artillery silenced the enemy artillery and dispersed by effective fire enemy troops and transport columns in the eastern portion of Kamikilliman.

"Our artillery drove off enemy transport vessels which approached a landing place.

"At Seddul-Bahr our artillery on the left wing destroyed some enemy trenches."

BRITISH REPULSED, TURKS ASSERT.

Berlin, November 28.—(By Wireless to Sayville.)—The following report issued by the Turkish war office on November 26 has been received here, says the Overseas agency:

"An enemy force which occupied our advanced positions west of Kontulamada, on the Tigris front, was defeated by our counter attacks and retired southward pursued by Turkish troops.

"On the Caucasus front a Russian attack was repulsed in the district of Van."

An unofficial Turkish statement received via London Saturday admitted the British claim that after the recent battle in Mesopotamia, the Turks retired to their main positions, but said that British attempts at a further advance failed. This later statement apparently claims that the British were forced to retreat after another counter attack.

RUSSIAN REPORT ON OPERATIONS.

Petrograd, November 28.—The following official communication was given out today:

"With the exception of a feeble, easily disposed of attempt by the Germans to attack our lines in the region of the river Aa, there has been complete calm on the whole front.

"In the Caucasus, in the coast region of the Black sea southwest of Khopa, there have been successful reconnaissances. Near the village of Teve, near Lake Tortum, our sharpshooters descended by ropes from a precipice and dispersed by a sudden raid detachments of Turks and seized their guns.

"In the region of Doutakh, on the Euphrates, and east of Melazghert, the situation is unchanged.

"In the region of Ardjich, on the northern shore of Lake Van, and near the village of Khoschkepre, there were encounters with Kurdish bands, who fled to the mountains after having suffered heavy losses.

"In Persia, south of Lake Urumiah, and in the region of the village of Kalapasva, our troops came into collision with bands of Turks and Kurds, which fled into Turkey before our attacks. In the direction of Teheran here has been nothing to report since the arrival of our troops at the towns of Enghia, Imam and Keredji."

RUMANIANS CALLED TO DEFEND RUMANIA

King Tells Parliament Bulgaria's Action Has Intensified the Situation.

London, November 29.—King Ferdinand opened the session of the Rumanian parliament in the presence of the crown prince and the ministers. The speech from the throne, says a Reuter's Bucharest dispatch, referred to the continuance of "the war which is drenching the world with blood," and called attention to the fact that since the previous session other belligerents had been added to the nations engaged.

"This situation," the king continued, "imposes upon us increasingly the duty of uniting our efforts for the defense of Rumania. You will be called upon to decide various measures and credits to face the present difficulties, and I am convinced that you will continue to supply the needs of our beloved army, which has always shown itself worthy of the love and confidence of the country."

GREECE CONSIDERS DEMANDS OF ALLIES.

Paris, November 28.—The Havas correspondent at Athens states that an official note issued yesterday says representatives of the entente powers have submitted demands to the foreign office.

"In an amicable spirit certain demands have been made," says the note, "and at the same time a desire is expressed that they may be accepted. These demands refer to facilities relating to the troops of the allies at Saloniki.

"The foreign minister after taking cognizance of the demands of the four powers, stated that he would reply in due time."

The correspondent explains that the demands of the entente powers are in regard to facilities for assuring the free movement of the allied troops in Macedonia, including the use of necessary railways for the transportation of men and provisions.

London, November 28.—Reuter's Athens correspondent declares great activity was noticeable last night in official circles, but that high officials and diplomats believe there is no ground for uneasiness. Confidence exists that so long as no effort is made to compel Greece to change her neutrality policy a solution of the military problems will be found.

The situation, the dispatch adds, is hopeful.

SEVEN LIVES WERE LOST WHEN TIVOLI BURNED

Baltimore, November 28.—A comparison today of the lists of persons rescued from the steamer Tivoli, which was burned on the Chesapeake bay near Annapolis Friday night, increases the number of missing to seven.

Two persons are known to have died. The missing are: Virginia and Willard Heward, children of Captain Heward, of the Tivoli; Philip Vogel, watchman; Edward Ringgold, fireman; Thomas C. Hill, —— Boresenn; —— Edelen.

To Fortify the System Against Winter Cold.
Many users of GROVE'S TASTELESS chill TONIC make it a practice to take a number of bottles in the Fall to strengthen and fortify the system against the cold weather during the winter. THE GIANTS

The giants of mythology were the forces of nature.

They exist in four elemental forms: wind, fuel, chemics, gravity. These are all energy. Science teaches their source is the sun.

They are Nature's giants.

Man has chained them. He transforms their labor into electricity. That is the unseen spirit of energy. He transmits that across miles of distance, to do big or tiny tasks far from its origin. Coal may be burned at mines, or water drive turbines at falls; and Electricity goes to do the work of city, town, country.

Thus do we of the Era Electrical.

Of the primitive forms of power, gravity is best, cheapest, alone constant and inexhaustible. In using it, Man spends nothing of the stores of the world.

We have harnessed this greatest among giants. Visit Morgan Falls, Dunlap Falls, Tallulah Falls. Hear him roaring at his task.

We hold him to your service.

SHERIFF MANGUM COMES OUT WITH STRONG STATEMENT

Declares He Feels It His Duty to Say a Good Word for Medicine That Has Helped Him So Much.

RECOMMENDS TANLAC TO HIS MANY FRIENDS

Circuit Court Judge, Bank President, Ex-Councilman, Cotton Oil Mill Supt. and Others Now Indorse It.

"Tanlac has certainly helped me, and I recommend it to others for what it has done in my case," said Hon. C. W. Mangum, sheriff of Fulton county.

Sheriff Mangum needs no introduction to the people of Atlanta, as he is, unquestionably, not only one of the best known, but one of the most popular officials in the state of Georgia. He is also known to be, by everyone, a kind, genial gentleman of the old school, and has a reputation of being the biggest-hearted man in public life today. His friends are legion, and his extreme popularity as a man and public official is further attested by the fact that he is now serving his third term as sheriff of Fulton county.

For some years he was a railroad official, but has been in public life since 1907. He served in the Confederate army from 1862 to 1865 in the First Georgia regiment, and later in the Fifth Georgia.

"Yes," continued the sheriff, "your medicine has done me lots of good, and I have personally recommended it to a great many people. I know of at least fifteen or twenty families who have bought it on my say so.

"I am 70 years old, and have most always been pretty strong and healthy until here lately. I have been in a nervous, worn-out, run-down condition. My stomach was upset most of the time, and I digested my food poorly. Most always after eating I would have a full, uncomfortable feeling that would last for several hours.

"After taking the second bottle of Tanlac the fullness and all the disagreeable symptoms disappeared, and my condition is now that of a well man. I now eat heartily without any bad after effects, and I sleep well at night.

"Tanlac seemed to be just what I needed to put my system in shape, and has toned me right up. Under the circumstances, I think it perfectly natural for me to say a good word for it and recommend it to my friends."

Commenting on the above statement, Mr. G. F. Willis, southern distributor of Tanlac, said:

"It is rarely, indeed, that men of prominence, especially men holding higher public offices, such as that held by Sheriff Mangum, voluntarily express their appreciation of the benefit received from a medicine. Thousands of such convincing indorsements, however, have come to Tanlac.

"Among the large number of prominent men in public life in the south who have recently given Tanlac their unqualified indorsement for the specific aid to them are Hon. McKenzie Moss, judge of the eighth Kentucky judicial district; Hon. Moses R. Glenn, Kentucky state superintendent of printing; Col. John B. Gaines, editor and publisher of the Bowling Green Daily News; George W. Hinton, former secretary of the Warren County Equity league; President Pegg, of the Newport Business College, and others.

"Among those prominent in commercial life, who have more recently indorsed Tanlac, and many of whom are well known in this section, are C. C. Cooper, president of the Georgia Cotton Oil Company, Lawrenceville, Ga.; H. W. Hill, bank president, of South Pittsburg, Tenn.; J. F. Carroll, cotton mill superintendent, of Chattahoochee, Ga.; C. M. Conover, manager of the office furniture department of Foote & Davies, Atlanta, Ga., and S. S. Shepard, ex-city councilman, Atlanta.

Genuine Tanlac is sold in Atlanta exclusively by the Jacobs Pharmacy company. It can also be obtained from regularly established agencies in all important towns in the southern states.—(adv.)

TEUTONS IN VISE, ASSERTS GALLIENI

French War Minister Says They Are Struggling Desperately to Escape, But Will Fail—Allies Bound to Win.

Paris, November 28.—General Joseph Gallieni had been at his desk in the ministry of war since 5 o'clock this morning when he received the Associated Press correspondent four hours later. It was somewhat difficult at first to realize that this quiet man, in the simplest of fatigue uniforms, was one of the half-dozen leaders who direct the armies of the allies or that he is one of the nerve centers of their immense efforts. It soon became apparent, however, that he is both a thinker and a man of action, bearing his tremendous responsibilities with calm and assurance.

"What are the reasons for my unshakable confidence in victory?" repeated the minister of war. "They are those of every Frenchman. Our enemies have been powerless to attain the essential object of every war—the destruction of the adversary's forces. In September, 1914, when we arrested and repulsed the German offensive, the game was lost by the enemy."

"How do you deduce that the Teutonic empires failed from that moment?" asked the correspondent.

"Because that victory gave the allies the essential factor of time," replied General Gallieni, "that has enabled us to organize the effective operations of our resources—resources that are superior in men and money to those of the enemy and nearly unlimited in material, thanks to our mastery of the seas."

Teutons Caught in Vise.

General Gallieni then outlined the position of the Teutonic armies as he views it:

"Caught in a vise," he said, "the central powers are struggling desperately to free themselves from its grip. The attack upon our front along the Yser, the offensive of the Russians and the campaign in the Balkans have been the convulsions of a beast at bay."

Alluding to the character of the German efforts in these campaigns, General Gallieni said:

"I recognize all their energy and vigor, but their importance is secondary.

"Even their recent success, made possible by the treason of Bulgaria, cannot modify the strategic situation which has been unalterable for many months. The French, British, Russian and Italian armies are intact. They are growing stronger each day and better armed to vanquish."

Referring to the eeffct upon the German armies of the frequent transfer of troops from one front to another, the war minister declared:

"Transported to the west, retransported to the east and then to the south, the enemy's armies are exhausting themselves and the quality of the German soldier is rapidly deteriorating. The opinions of all those who saw the prisoners taken during the battle of Champagne in September are well fixed upon that point.

Issue Fatal for Teutons.

"The issue is fatal for the central empires. Nothing but lack of tenacity on our part could save them. Shall we have the necessary energy to go on to the end? If you wish to fix your opinion as to that eventuality, travel about France everywhere. At the front as in Paris, in the towns as in the country, you will see in the eyes of every one the unchangeable will to persevere to the very end, to a complete victory."

A little later, talking of his own work, General Gallieni said:

"My role is to co-ordinate efforts, to adapt all national energies most advantageously to the needs of the hour and to obtain from them the best results with a view of gaining that complete victory as soon as possible with a minimum expenditure of lives and money. The task is a heavy one. I hope to work it out successfully, because I feel that we have behind us the ardent co-operation of the entire nation."

SERVANT GIRL SOUGHT TO CLEAR UP MURDERS

New Brunswick, N. J., November 28. The authorities of Middlesex county today began a search for a discharged servant girl of the Weitzmann family, who, it is believed, may be able to furnish a clew as to the possible cause for the murders of six persons shot to death yesterday on the Weitzmann farm.

The bodies of Samuel Weitzmann, his wife, and his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. David Kigner, and the two farm hands were brought to a morgue here. The dead farm hands were identified today as John Gannas, a Hungarian, and Joseph Petrucha, a Pole. The body of Petrucha was found with a revolver in one hand, and the authorities believe he shot the other five before killing himself.

Relatives of the Weitzmann family declare they did not believe the killings were done by Petrucha. They hold the theory that some one outside the household is responsible for the crime.

WHITE HOUSE REPLIES TO CATHOLIC CRITICISM

Secretary Tumulty Explains Why Recognition Was Given to Carranza.

Washington, November 28.—The administration's reply to those who criticise the recognition of the Carranza government in Mexico because of charges of outrage upon priests and nuns of the Catholic church was made public here tonight in a letter by Secretary Tumulty to Dr. James J. McGuire, of Trenton, N. J., who recently wrote to the white house asking for an explanation of what he characterizes as "widespread criticism."

Secretary Tumulty advised Dr. McGuire that the files of the state department failed to disclose any official record of a single proven case of outrage upon nuns, and he included in his letter a statement by the Catholic vicar general at Mexico City, which, while disclosing the shooting of priests, and the expulsion and imprisonment of others, declared there had been no violations of nuns in that district.

Secretary Tumulty said in all wars the horrors of the conflict have been kept alive by those on the losing side, but that it should be the duty of all citizens of both the United States and Mexico to contribute in every manner to the early rehabilitation of the nation so long torn by civil strife and to avoid keeping open the wounds.

"Counsel and sympathy are needful, and would be merciful now, because they would be of wonderful efficacy in uniting the people of Mexico in the work of reconstruction," wrote Mr. Tumulty. "Efforts to arouse rancorous feelings among them will have the effect of opening anew the wounds which should be healed, and of creating an open sore to torture that poor people as long as their minds are kept inflamed against their brethren."

The secretary also called attention to the recognition of President Juarez by the Buchanan administration following "the bloodiest of all civil wars ever waged in Mexico," marked by "all the bitterness and cruelties of a religious war."

Emphasis was laid on the recognition of Carranza by the Latin-American countries which joined in the Pan-American peace conference. All of these Latin-American countries, Mr. Tumulty pointed out, were Catholic nations.

Finally, a statement was reproduced which was given the state department by Eliseo Arredondo, the Washington representative of General Carranza, last October, pledging the Carranza government to respect everybody's life, property and religious beliefs."

Secretary Tumulty inclosed in his message a letter written by former Secretary Bryan last March to Rev. Francis C. Kelley, of Chicago, giving in detail various steps taken by the United States government during the progress of the revolution in Mexico to protect the representatives of all religious organizations in Mexico. It previously has been published.

J. S. THOMPSON SUES FOR 6,000 ACRES OF LAND IN WALKER

Lyerly, Ga., November 28.—(Special.) The largest suit known in this section of Georgia is that filed by Judge W. M. Henry, of Rome, and Paul D. Wright, of Lafayette, attorneys for John S. Thompson, of New York, for the recovery of some 6,000 acres of land, situated in Walker county, a few miles south of Chattanooga, in McLamore's cove, on which is situated the great stock farm now claimed by D. B. Murphy. These lands, with their mineral deposits and great value for farming, are supposed to be worth over $100,000.

Thompson, the plaintiff, is a prominent New York author. He wrote "China Revolutionary," "The Chinese" and other books, and received the thanks of both Chinese parties, the Chinese press and universities for his propaganda of the official recognition of the Chinese, medical missions, antiopium, integrity of China and other movements.

When only a youth in his 'teens he was manager at New York of the Canada, Atlantic and Plant Steamship lines running to Cuba, Canada, etc. For many years he was Oriental manager, with headquarters at Hongkong, China, of the Pacific Mail and Tokio Kessen Kaissha Trans-Pacific Steamship lines. He has traveled in every country of the Orient, around the world, in Latin-America and in Europe.

D. B. Murphy is a man of wealth and distinction. He is owner of the famous stock farm in McLamore's cove. The other defendants are men of influence, one of them being an attorney of Chattanooga.

Owing to the prominence of the parties connected with the case, it is attracting widespread attention, and it is expected that the case will be hotly contested on both sides when it comes up for trial, which will probably be at the regular February term of Walker county superior court.

PERSIA BEING STIRRED BY TEUTON INTRIGUES

London, November 28.—A Reuter's dispatch from Petrograd says:

"Advices from Teheran, say that dissensions have broken out among the Swedish officers of the Persian gendarmerie. Some of the officers have taken advantage of the fact that they are not in the service of the Swedish government and joined the enemy camp, while others have expressed their disapprobation of the disloyal conduct of their colleagues in disobeying the Shah's government at Teheran and their participation in mutinies of the gendarmerie.

"The insurgent gendarmerie, together with mercenaries, are occcupying the Mohammedan road, where, under the direction of German officers, they are fortifying the mountain passes to cover the region adjoining the Turkish border.

"Prince Henry of Reuss, who presides over a committee established at Kum, is in close communication with Teheran in the hope of yet bringing the Shah and the government under his influence. The expected return of the German, Austrian and Turkish ministers to Teheran has the same object in view. Half the national council and nearly all the armed forces of Persia are at Kum and Hamadan."

The Persian gendarmerie under 36 Swedish officers, numbers about 6,000, of whom 2,000 are mounted. The gendarmerie is in charge of nearly 1,000 miles of roads.

MOTHERS AND WIVES CRY TO KING ALFONSO

Paris, November 28.—A Temps dispatch from Madrid says:

"King Alfonso has received 100,000 letters begging for his intervention in favor of civilians or soldiers made prisoner or condemned by courts-martial in Germany and Austria. Most of them are from French and English mothers and wives.

"King Alfonso attends to this correspondence personally and the steps deemed necessary are ordered taken by him immediately. Letters regarding British citizens who are under American protection are communicated at once to the American ambassadors. The king often stays up far into the night awaiting telegraphic replies to his appeals so that he can forward their contents at once to waiting relatives.

"All the telegraph lines are kept busy in attending to this correspondence, which has reached 2,500 messages a day."

SOLONS FLOCKING TO WASHINGTON

Organization of the 64th Congress, Which Convenes Next Monday, Begins Today—Senate Democrats Caucus.

Washington, November 28.—Organization of the sixty-fourth congress, which convenes next Monday, will begin tomorrow. Senate democrats hold their caucus at noon and at the same hour ways and means committee democrats of the house will undertake the task of parcelling out committee recommendations.

Tonight every train brought to Washington scores of senators and representatives who had postponed their coming until after Thanksgiving.

The senate caucus will be called to order by Senator Kern, the conference chairman. Daily sessions throughout the week are expected, the question of revising the rules and providing for cloture of debate promising to enliven the proceedings. For several months a special committee has had revision of the rules under consideration. This committee will report recommendations including a modified form of cloture on debate designed to prevent endless filibusters. It is believed a majority of the democrats will favor some form of cloture rule. Organization work of the senate majority is not expected to precipitate any clashes. Although there have been rumors of changes in leadership, no definite contests developed. Senator Kern, it is believed, will be re-elected majority leader; Senator Clark, of Arkansas, president pro tempore, and Senator Lewis, of Illinois, party whip, if he so desires.

Senate Chairmanships.

No change in chairmanship of important senate committees is contemplated, unless some senators want to trade to make room for the new members. If any chairmanships are changed, however, leaders say, they will be in minor committees. Heads of committees upon which will fall the majority portion of work for the coming session will not be disturbed. Senator Tillman, of South Carolina, will retain chairmanship of the naval affairs, Chamberlain, of foreign relations; Simmons, North Carolina, finance; Overman, North Carolina, rules; Owen, Oklahoma, banking and currency; Myers, Montana, public lands; Hitchcock, Nebraska, Philippine islands; Culberson, Texas, judiciary; Newlands, Nevada, interstate commerce, and Martin, Virginia, appropriations.

The retirement of Senators Root and Burton creates two important republican vacancies in the foreign relations committee.

Most of the important vacancies to be filled in other committees also occur on the republican side. Committee places must be found by the democrats for six new members, Underwood, Alabama; Phelan, California; Beckham, Kentucky; Broussard, Louisiana; Johnson, South Dakota, and Husting, of Wisconsin.

Reorganization of House.

Work of reorganization in the house is a greater task, owing to the reduction of the democratic membership. Not only are many democratic vacancies left on most of the important committees, but increase in republican members will necessitate changing the party ratio on nearly all committees to take care of the enlarged minority. Few changes in chairmanships of the principal committees are contemplated, however; Representative Kitchin already has been elected as chairman of the ways and means committee.

One of the most important tasks the ways and means committee has is reorganization of the committee on naval affairs, in view of the defense program. There are five democratic vacancies on the committee, three advocates and two opponents of naval increases having been retired. Hobson, of Alabama; Lee, of Pennsylvania; Gerry, of Rhode Island, and Bathrick, of Ohio, were not re-elected. Representative Witherspoon, of Mississippi, died a few days ago. Representative Padgett, of Tennessee, will retain the chairmanship.

Representative Hay, of Virginia, will continue as chairman of military affairs; Fitzgerald, New York, appropriations; Floyd, of Virginia, foreign affairs; Glass, Virginia, banking and currency; Webb, North Carolina, judiciary, and Alexander, of Missouri, merchant marine.

The special budget committee of the house will meet tomorrow to make another effort to agree on some form of budget system to recommend to congress. Wide differences of opinion have caused several members of the committee to express doubt that an agreement can be reached.

CHILDREN AT PLAY IN PIEDMONT PARK SUNDAY AFTERNOON

Dozens of children playing at Piedmont park in the last days of November was the unusual sight that greeted strollers through Piedmont yesterday morning.

The day was so balmy, with a generous sun and breezes that were more remindful of spring than early winter, that scores of children and their nurses went to Piedmont to take advantage of the playground paraphernalia.

Sunday's unusually pleasant weather brought hundreds to the streets. Automobile parties over the country roads were numerous, and downtown saw a larger crowd of pedestrians than at any time this late in the winter of recent years.

A sudden and surprising shower at nightfall, however, obscured the moon that has been shining so brilliantly of late, and sent pedestrians scurrying for shelter.

For preserving paintings, a German has patented a process which consists of inclosing them in tight, glass-front cases filled with nitrogen.

FUNSTON AND OBREGON MEET IN CONFERENCE

Carranza General Wants to Secure Villa Governor of Sonora.

Nogales, Ariz., November 28.—Major General Frederick Funston conferred at length today with General Alvaro Obregon, the Carranza commander, whose forces occupied Nogales, Sonora, last Friday. General Obregon had requested the extradition of Carlos Randall, until last Thursday night acting governor of Sonora.

After the conference General Funston said he would forward to Washington all the facts laid before him regarding Randall, who crossed to the American side before the Carranza forces took Nogales.

General Obregon's request today that he be allowed to transfer 110 wounded soldiers to Nogales, Sonora, was promptly complied with by General Funston. Hospital facilities had been provided, General Oregon said.

"That is the first act of really civilized warfare that has been brought to my attention on the Mexican side of the border, and I am especially pleased to acquiesce in the move," said General Funston, granting General Obregon's request.

General Obregon announced that he would leave tomorrow with most of his troops to join General Martinez, who started yesterday in pursuit of the Villa forces, believed to be on their way to Hermosillo.

United States cavalrymen on guard duty to the east reported that they were fired on early today by a small band of mounted men. Their shots were wild, and the Americans did not return the fire.

The bodies of twenty-five Villa soldiers and civilian adherents were found by the Carranza forces when they occupied Nogales, Sonora, according to a statement issued by General Obregon today. He said a captain and four troopers of the Carranza forces were killed when the Twelfth infantry replied to the fire which the men under General Cardenas directed against the Americans.

Three hundred Villa soldiers captured at Nogales, Sonora, were put to work cleaning up the town and repairing the railroad.

NEW CHINESE MINISTER ARRIVES AT NEW YORK

New York, November 28.—Dr. V. K. Wellington Koo, recently appointed Chinese minister to the United States by President Yuan Shi Kai, arrived here today on the steamship New York from Liverpool. Dr. Koo succeeds as minister Kai Fuh-Shah, recalled to Pekin. Dr. Koo said his appointment came while he was in London on private business. He was then preparing to go to Mexico City to represent his government.

The new minister was graduated from Columbia university in 1909. Under 30 years of age, he is credited with being one of the youngest men ever sent to fill a diplomatic position at Washington.

ELECTRICAL WEEK WILL OPEN TODAY

Tech Electrical Engineering Students Will Be in Charge Monday, and Mandolin Club Will Furnish Music.

Electrical prosperity week is upon us. It begins today, and the "big show" opens in the Healey building this morning at 11 o'clock and staying open until 11 o'clock at night.

The main floor of the Healey building this morning has such an electrical show as has, perhaps, not been seen before in the south.

Aside from the permanent exhibits for the week, each day will furnish a special feature, which makes the show as new on next Saturday as it is today.

Today is Tech day. There will be special demonstrations by Tech electrical engineering students, and the Tech Mandolin club and quartet will furnish music.

An admission fee of 10 cents will be charged for the show. It is not expected by the promoters and exhibitors to make a profit, and this fee will be devoted to the Atlanta Anti-Tuberculosis society. The purpose of the show is to demonstrate the new possibilities of electricity for business and household purposes.

FATHER KILLED, SON SHOT IN FIGHT WITH OFFICERS

Olanta, S. C., November 28.—Sam Lee is dead and his son, Olin Lee, probably fatally wounded as a result of a shooting affray on the streets of Olanta yesterday afternoon. The wounded man is shot through the left lung. George Ham, a policeman, is severely cut about the neck and face and Charles McElveen, another policeman, was struck over the head with his own club. The affair is said to have followed the arrest of a member of the Lee family by Policeman Ham.

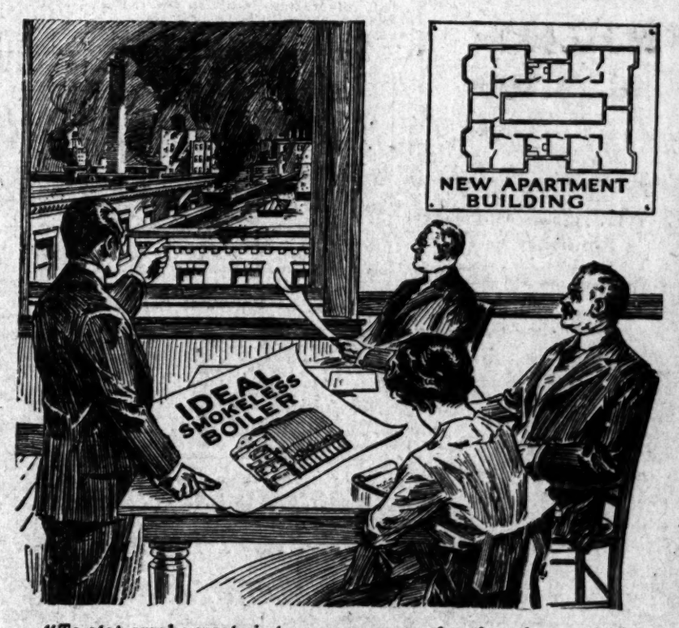
BRITISH SHIP ATTACKED BY GERMAN AEROPLANES

London, November 28.—A Reuter dispatch from Rotterdam says the British steamer Balgownie, in from London, reports she was attacked yesterday near the Noord Hinder lighthouse by three German aeropranes. Machine gun fire and rifle fire and bombs, directed against the steamer for twenty minutes, failed to damage her.

Don't waste dollars in smoke!

"That smoke represents wasted profits—lost fuel—unburned coal—and breaks the city smoke laws. Let us show you how to burn it—and turn a waste into a profit."

"We will prove to you by test that you may burn the very cheapest grades of soft coal and get quite as much total heating power (without smoke) as if you used high-priced hard coal or semi-bituminous coals."



"To stop smoke waste is to save money and make a better city"

Thousands of owners of apartments, large residences, factories, office buildings, institutions, greenhouses, schools, etc., are now profiting in this way by using the

IDEAL SMOKELESS Down-Draft Boiler
—produces full heat without smoke from cheapest soft coals

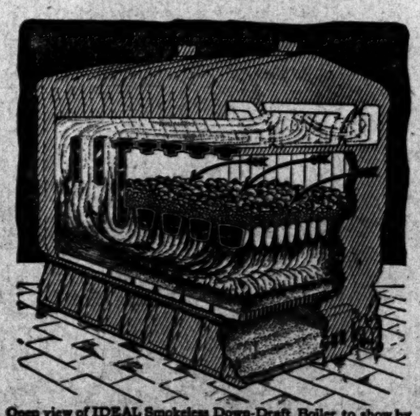
The IDEAL SMOKELESS Down-Draft Boiler will last and give wonderful service every year as long as the building stands. Made of non-rusting, ever-wearing cast-iron sections which can be installed anywhere without tearing out doorways, walls, or partitions. Does not require expensive excavation or brick setting. When the short-lived old steel plate and tube boiler gives out, ask your contractor to bury it under the basement floor (not an unusual practice) and erect an IDEAL SMOKELESS Down-Draft Boiler in its place.



Open view of IDEAL Smokeless Down-Draft Boiler to show by arrows how the air is made to pass down through the upper and lower grates or double fire to thoroughly mix with the flames and thus produce utmost heating results from cheapest soft coal, with Smokeless results. Ask your local City Smoke Inspector for proof of our statement.

Awarded Grand Prize San Francisco Panama-Pacific

The IDEAL Boiler is made in sections or units and is easily carried through doorway and set up quickly at any time in buildings already erected. If building is altered or enlarged IDEAL Boiler may have extra sections added easily. Did you ever see a second-hand IDEAL Boiler? And you never will! They're always like new. Fully guaranteed!

Let us show them to you in operation and give you the actual results and reasons why they are best for your building. Send for catalogue "IDEAL SMOKELESS Down-Draft Boilers" and get in touch with our nearest Sales Branch—this will not obligate you in any way. Many of the largest and finest buildings in over 400 smoke-plagued cities and towns are already saving heavily on their annual fuel expense and complying with all smoke laws by the wonderfully efficient work of these boilers. TRAINING CAMP A FINE IDEA

EDITED BY DICK JEMISON.

JACKETS ELECT LEADER SATURDAY

At Monster Banquet at the Druid Hills Golf Club. Letters to Be Awarded Them.

The Tech Yellow Jackets will elect their football captain for the 1916 season at the monster banquet that will be held at the Druid Hills Golf club Saturday night at 7:30 o'clock.

The varsity, the scrubs, the coaches and the managers, a party of about fifty, will be the honor guests at the banquet, to which is invited the alumni and all friends of the institution. Any one desiring to attend is urged to communicate with Chip Robert, 913 Candler building, as soon as possible.

In addition to the election of a captain, letters will be awarded to the varsity men adjudged as having made them, trophies will be presented for various performances.

It is believed that three hundred plates at least will be set, a gala occasion bringing to a close the football season in Atlanta.

JIM FOX WILL LEAD PORTSMOUTH IN 1916

Former Cracker to Leave the Columbus Sally Leaguers After Several Years.

Columbus, Ga., November 29.—(Special.)—The announcement is made that James Claudius Fox, for several years manager and pennant winner for the Columbus Baseball association, is going to Portsmouth, Va., to manage that team during the coming season.

It will not seem like baseball in Columbus without the long boy down around the first sack, and heading the attack on the visiting club, and there are many fans deploring the fact that James is going to leave.

Who will be secured in his place is not known, as the local baseball association has not made anything public regarding it. However, the name of "Reud" Herndon, who played at the third sack last year, has been mentioned, and as he is one of the brainiest men in the South Atlantic infield it may be that the job of managing will be turned over to him.

The fans in losing James as manager are sending him off with the best wishes, and his memory of several pennants will always give him a backing here.

FIELDING RECORDS OF NATIONAL LEAGUE

Hans Wagner Led the Shortstops in His Nineteenth Year in the League.

The official fielding records of the National league just issued show some interesting facts.

Primarily the fact that Hans Wagner, the veteran Pittsburger, should lead the shortstops in fielding in this his nineteenth season as a player, proves the wonderful ability of the big Dutchman. His record was .948. Herzog, the Cincinnati manager, was second with .945.

Mollwitz, of Cincinnati, led the first basemen with an average of .996. Daubert, of Brooklyn, and Luderus, of Philadelphia, were tied for second with .993.

Cutshaw, of Brooklyn, leads the second basemen with .971. Evers, of Boston, is second with .961.

Groh, of Cincinnati, and Byrne, of Philadelphia, another hardy veteran, are tied for the lead in third basemen with .969 each. Getz, of Brooklyn, comes next with .951.

Wilson, of St. Louis, Carey of Pittsburg, and Magee, of Boston, were the three leading outfielders.

Myers, of the Giants, and Whaling, of Boston, topped the catchers with .986. Snyder, of St. Louis, came next with .983.

Adams, of Pittsburg, Robinson, of St. Louis, Demaree, of Philadelphia, and Schupp, of New York, were tied for the lead among the pitchers with a clean record.

Boston led the teams in fielding with .9468 against .9467 for Cincinnati.

CITY DUCKPIN LEAGUE.

The Postals went into the lead as the result of the week's play at the Atlanta Bowling Alley company, in the Emery-Steiner building, supplanting the Submarines. The standing of the teams is as follows:

MERCERS FOOTBALL LEADER

ALBERT "DUCK" SWANN.

Macon, Ga., November 28.—(Special.) Captain "Duck" Swann is the hero of the Mercer team this year. He is a pharmacy student. He scored on every team that Mercer has played this year except Tech and Auburn and carried the ball against Auburn for a 40-yard run to Auburn's 15-yard line, the closest that Mercer came to the Auburn goal line.

This is Swann's second year on the Mercer team, playing at quarter. He has featured in every game. He weighs only 135 pounds.

He was first baseman on the Mercer baseball team the past year and much is expected of him by Mercer during the coming baseball season.

Training Camp Should Prove Big Help to 1916 Crackers

If Charley Frank decides to take the Crackers to a training camp instead of having them train in Atlanta, as is his present intention, he will not only mark a new departure in baseball for Atlanta teams, but will benefit the team as well.

Atlanta weather is generally splendid for baseball training, though at times a trifle cool. Should he select a good training camp, with splendid weather conditions, it will serve to whip the team into shape quicker than Atlanta teams have been able to get into shape in the past.

Briefly, the team will be able to cut loose right from the start, instead of going slowly in the first month of campaigning and letting the others get a bulge.

Besides, in a smaller city, with fewer attractions, stricter attention can be paid to the work at hand, getting into condition and learning baseball, than have the team train at home.

It is no doubt these considerations that has prompted Mr. Frank to make the move that he has. As to exhibition games in Atlanta, it is too far away to discuss this feature as yet.

Football Titles Generally Regarded As Ending in Tie

The football world is divided primarily into the following chief sections, East, Middle West, Far West, South, South Atlantic, Southwestern.

In the South, Tech and Vanderbilt have claims for the title. We picked Tech, other scribes Vanderbilt, but to all intents they are tied for the title.

In the South Atlantic division, Virginia and Washington and Lee can be considered as having equal claims.

In the East, Cornell and Pittsburg were undefeated, and their adherents will concede the other no better than a tie.

In the Middle West, Illinois and Minnesota tied each other and defeated every one else, a clear tie.

In the Far West, Washington and Washington State have been undefeated for the season.

In the Southwestern division, there is a general mix-up, with Rice, Texas and Texas A. & M. all claiming equal rights. Rice defeated Texas A. & M., Texas A. & M. defeated Texas, and Texas defeated Rice. There you are.

Successfull Football Season Proves Business Improving

No better evidence of the improved condition of business generally throughout the country is needed than to point to the football season that was brought to a close Saturday.

The season was successful from a playing standpoint, but even more so from a financial standpoint. Tech's receipts were the largest in her history. The same applies to practically every college in every section.

Where the baseball seasons generally were the worst in the history of the game, the football seasons proved the best, proving that business has been rapidly mending and that money conditions are considerably easier than they have been in a twelvemonth.

Tech and Georgia Nine to Play Five Games in Spring

In order that some decision may be rendered between the two schools, the baseball teams of Georgia and Tech will play five games next spring, instead of four, as has been the custom in the past.

This will eliminate any possibility of the two teams being tied up at the conclusion of their series, as has been the case several times. The dates of the games will be announced later.

BOWLING LEAGUE

The standing of the six teams in the Atlanta Bowling Association league, at the conclusion of the games last week, is as follows:

Teams.	Won.	Lost.	P.C.
Crystals	16	11	.593
Old Styles	15	12	.556
Perfections	14	13	.519
Federals	13	14	.481
White Elephants	13	14	.481
Alcos	10	17	.370

Praises Officials.

Dick Jemison, Sporting Editor, Constitution: I read in your article in The Constitution here awhile back regarding the officials handling the Tech-Georgia game so well. I want to say that I never saw the Georgia-Tech game, but I did see the game yesterday and I want to say I heartily approve of your judgment. I would never want to see a game handled better, officially.

Yours truly,
A. F. B.

AUTOIST DRIVES ON AFTER HITTING GIRL

Augusta, Ga., November 28.—(Special.)—Marian Dunbar, the 12-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. S. Dunbar, was struck by an automobile running on the wrong side of the street yesterday. The party driving the car did not stop to see to the child's injuries. The little girl was knocked senseless and badly cut about the head and one leg. Chief of Police Elliott has the case in hand and will attempt to apprehend the party who struck the child. There have been fifteen arrests made the past week for speeding autos, and the crusade is to be continued until the practice of exceeding the speed limits is broken up.

CORNELL ELEVEN LED IN THE EAST

Scored 297 Points—Syracuse Was Scored Against Less During the Season.

The Cornell eleven, which is a claimant with Pittsburg for the championship of the east for the season, led the teams in the east in points scored during the season, rolling up 297 points, and having 50 scored against her.

Pittsburg finished in third place, with 247 points scored and but 26 scored against her.

Syracuse, who can be ranked well up in the list, finished second in points scored with 268, and led the entire east in having the fewest points scored against her with but 16. Her only defeat was at the hands of Princeton, 3 to 0.

Here are the scores:

SMITH WILL DELIVER MEMORIAL ADDRESS

Arrangements Completed for Services to Be Held by Atlanta Elks' Lodge.

Atlanta lodge, No. 78, Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, will hold their annual memorial services in the Forsyth theater Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The public is cordially invited. All Elks are requested to meet at the home, No. 40 East Ellis street, at 2:30 o'clock and march in a body to the theater.

The Memorial day committee, composed of George C. James, chairman; Boyd A. Lovvorn, John Y. Smith and John G. Courtney, have arranged a most excellent program for this occasion. Music will be furnished by Matthiessen's orchestra. The former Baptist church choir, composed of Mrs. James H. Whitten, Mrs. Peyton H. Todd, Solon Drunkenmiller, Harry R. Gates and J. P. O'Donnelly, will sing appropriate selections. Solon Drunkenmiller will sing "The Vacant Chair."

David B. Smith, of Charlotte, N. C., a brother of Esteemed Loyal Knight John Y. Smith, will deliver the memorial address. Dr. W. W. Memminger will render the invocation.

The ritualistic part of the services will be carried out by the following officers of the lodge: Martin F. Amorous, exalted ruler; George C. James, esteemed leading knight; John Y. Smith, esteemed loyal night; John G. Courtney, esteemed lecturing knight; John A. Alley, esteemed inner guard; Boyd A. Lovvorn, esquire; W. A. Roan, chaplain.

The Elks' Memorial day is observed the first Sunday in December each year by every lodge of Elks in the United States in sacred session assembled to pay a tribute of affection to the memories of the departed brothers.

WEEK OF MERRY-MAKING BEGINS AT WAYCROSS

Whistles to Blow in Prosperity Week at 10 O'Clock This Morning.

Waycross, Ga., November 28.—(Special.)—Every whistle in Waycross, along with the bells, will proclaim the opening of Prosperity week festivities here tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock. From that moment on through midnight of December 4 Waycross will be in the hands of the merrymakers, and will entertain thousands of visitors from Ware and surrounding counties.

Arrangements have been completed for a big labor parade here Saturday night, featuring the observance of Saturday as Labor day. Every union in the city will participate, having floats as well as their members in the parade. It will be a torchlight procession, and with the unusual electrical decorations will be certain to prove one of the week's features.

Advices from the Dixie highway boosters along what is known as the short route from Macon to Waycross and Jacksonville say that not less than twenty machines will arrive in Waycross during the afternoon of December 2. The tourists will be royally entertained while here and will be met by a procession of automobiles that will eclipse anything of the kind ever arranged here. Officers of the Ware County Medical society, host for the Eleventh District Medical association's convention here December 3, expect a record-breaking attendance. The business session will be followed by an auto ride and an oyster roast. All Waycross today is in gala attire and ready for the celebration.

LOT OF WHISKY SEIZED IN NEGRO LODGE ROOM

Macon, Ga., November 28.—(Special.) In a raid on a negro drug store on Cotton avenue this evening, in which the police and the sheriff's deputies participated, after breaking through five trap doors and forcing an entrance into a secret room in the rear of the negro Knights of Pythias temple, more than 800 bottles of whisky were seized. J. H. and S. C. Clemons, negro proprietors of the drug store, were arrested and released under bonds of $1,000 each.

MOB LYNCHES NEGRO FOR ATTACK ON GIRL

Henderson, Ky., November 28.—Ellis Buckner, a negro, charged with having attacked a young girl last night, was taken from the county jail here early today by a mob of fifty masked men and hanged to a tree a short distance below Henderson.

ELBERT HUBBARD CLUB WILL MEET WEDNESDAY

A meeting of the Elbert Hubbard club of Atlanta has been called for the Ansley hotel Wednesday evening, December 1. A musical and literary program has been arranged.

AT THE THEATERS

Al H. Wilson.

(At the Atlanta.)

Al H. Wilson, the singing dialect comedian, has a new play called "As Years Roll On," written by Herbert Hall Winslow and Charles Horwitz, and produced by Sidney R. Ellis, which will be presented at the Atlanta at a matinee today and also tonight by Mr. Wilson and company. "As Years Roll On" is said to be admirably written, well acted, and to contain a plot brimming with originality. The plot, which is laid in Holland and America, deals with the life of John Van Zam, a young soldier of Holland who assaults a superior officer when resisting arrest. During the performance Mr. Wilson will delight the audience by singing "Yesterday," "Mother Mine," "As Years Roll On," and "She's Left Me For a Teddy Bear."

"The Prince of Pilsen."

(At the Atlanta.)

One of the chief reasons for the long-continued popularity of Pixley and Luders' musical comedy, "The Prince of Pilsen," which comes to the Atlanta Tuesday and Wednesday, with a Wednesday matinee, for which seats are now on sale, is that it has not been allowed to deteriorate in any respect, but is kept keyed up to the standard of excellence, which is the final word in theatrical production. The numerous song hits in this production have an enduring grasp on public favor. The company that will present this delightful musical comedy is headed by Jess Dandy, long identified with the role of Hans Wagner, the "Zinzinnati" brewer. In the supporting cast are Edward T. Mora; Earl McHaffie, George Meyers, Mabel Harris, Irene Duke, Florence Hensel, Helen Fitzpatrick and Dorothy Delmore.

Keith Vaudeville.

(At the Forsyth.)

One of variety's greatest bills is promised at the Forsyth this week in a program that offers seven of the newest and best acts of Keith vaudeville in addition to comedy and Pathe news pictures, which include 300 feet of scenes of the recent Harvest Festival. The headline act is the much-talked-of delightfully fantastic musical comedy, "Temptation," with Myrtle Vail and George Dameral in the leading roles. Belle Blanche, impersonator and singer, will be a feature of the week. Milo, the mystery, will be seen; in addition to an elaborate dancing act by the Peroneas; a comedy, "The Antique Shop," by Hyman Adler and company; a novelty by Nenena Norris and Wallace Bradley and other acts.

Marguerite Clark.

(At the Grand.)

Amazing feats in mysterious double exposure are shown in "The Prince and the Pauper," the new Paramount feature in which Marguerite Clark will be starred at the Grand today, Tuesday and Wednesday. Miss Clark plays the duel role of prince and pauper is shown talking to herself, eating with herself and accomplishing other amazing feats. The film is a picture version of Mark Twain's immortal and delightful story. It is filled with such humor as only the master hand of Mark Twain could produce. The attraction is in five parts and is said to be one of the most extraordinar features ever produced by the Famous Players. The photo play has caught with unerring fidelity the spirit of the great humorist in one of his best-liked stories.

SHOOTS GUN WITH TOE AND BLOWS OUT BRAINS

Thomasville, Ga., November 28.—(Special.)—With a string tied around his toe and the other end to the trigger of his shotgun, H. T. Golding, a farmer of Mitchell county, committed suicide by blowing out his brains, the muzzle of the gun being placed against his forehead.

An unbalanced mind, resulting from a long spell of fever, is thought to have been the cause of the act. Golding was about 40 years of age and leaves a wife and several children. He was well known and liked in his county.

Famous Players Film Co.

THIS winsome little miss is one of the foremost film favorites now appearing in pictures. Miss Clark has scored triumph after triumph in such photoplays as "Wildflower"; "The Crucible"; "Gretna Green"; "Pretty Sister of Jose"; "Seven Sisters"; "Helene of the North" and now another brilliant success is added to the list—a pretentious photo-adaption of Mark Twain's masterpiece, "The Prince and the Pauper;" also "Still Waters."

Paramount Pictures—the first to offer clean, wholesome pictures of merit—consist of more than the individual star or play. They offer the public a steady, week-in and week-out program of high class productions, the kind you can recommend to your friends.

Look for the Paramount trademark displayed in the lobby of the best theatre in your town—it stands for the highest quality photoplays.

METHODISTS TO END CONFERENCE TODAY

Believed Bishop Kilgo Will Read Appointments in the South Georgia Conference This Morning.

By Rev. W. A. Brooks.

Cordele, Ga., November 28.—Cordele was athrong today with visitors to the South Georgia conference, large delegations having come from nearby towns and cities. Rev. J. B. McGehee, D. D., of Buena Vista, the veteran of the conference, conducted the love-feast at 9:30 o'clock.

It is confidently expected that Bishop Kilgo will read the appointments tomorrow morning before adjournment, so that he can leave the city at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, as he is to preside at the session of the North Carolina conference next Wednesday.

Deacons are Ordained.

Bishop John C. Kilgo preached at the Methodist church, after which service, the ordination of the class of local and traveling deacons occurred. Rev. O. B. Chester, of Columbus, preached tonight, followed by the ordination of the traveling elders, there being no class of local elders this year.

At the other churches in the city the following ministers preached: Baptist, Rev. T. D. Ellis, D. D., of Dawson, and Rev. W. N. Ainsworth, D. D., morning and evening, respectively. Presbyterian, 11 a. m., Rev. N. H. Williams, of Cuthbert; 7:30 p. m., Rev. J. N. Peacock, of Swainsboro; Primitive Baptist, 11 a. m., Rev. J. T. Ryder, of Tifton; 7:30 p. m., Rev. J. C. G. Brooks, of Adel.

Practically all of the pulpits of the colored churches also were filled by the ministers of the South Georgia conference.

Memorial Services.

At the Methodist church this afternoon the memorial service was held under the auspices of the committee on memories.

Appropriate tributes were paid at this service to the life and character of the following honored members of this conference who have died during this year: Rev. C. E. Boland, of Bingen; Rev. R. K. Normah, of Wasmington; Rev. Walter Williams, of Americus; Rev. R. F. Williamson, of Ellaville; Rev. A. M. Williams, D. D., of Columbus, and Rev. Frank Mingledorff, of Cairo.

Donations to parsonages as follows: Newington, $200; Scott, $100; Harrison, $200; Cooleege, $125; Blacksnear, $150. The assessment on the conference for church extension for 1916 is $1,374.

Missionary Work Statistics.

Dr. Ed F. Cook, of Nashville, Tenn., missionary secretary, has compiled the following statistics, showing the advancement that has been made in the decade 1904-1914:

Number of missionaries and their wives in 1904, 240; in 1914, 364; Preachers in 1904, 199; in 1914, 265. Number of Bible women in 1904, 123; in 1914, 248. Number of organized churches in 1904, 309; in 1914, 521. Number of members in 1904, 16,711; in 1914, 30,139. Number of Sunday schools in 1904, 328; in 1914, 636. Number of officers and teachers in 1904, 1,096; in 1914, 2,507. Number of pupils in 1904, 15,091; in 1914, 32,502. Number of colleges, seminaries, boarding schools and day schools in 1904, 114; in 1914, 184. Number of hospitals and dispensaries in 1904, 7; in 1914, 9. Patients treated in 1904, 32,733; in 1914, 66,251. Receipts in 1914, $559,868; in 1914, $861,910. The expense of administration is 8.43 per cent of total receipts. This is divided as follows: 4.20 per cent actual administrative expense and 4.23 per cent for home cultivation.

VANDERBILT LAW DEAN PASSES IN NASHVILLE

Nashville, Tenn., November 28.—Dr. Allen Garland Hall, dean of the Vanderbilt university law department, and one of the south's foremost educators, died at 1:55 o'clock this morning at his home on the Vanderbilt campus after a period of ill health extending over many years, but which only took a critical turn during the past few months. He was 53 years old.

Dr. Hall suffered from Bright's disease and had been confined to his bed for several weeks. He was born in Kentucky.

"Message of Hope" Brought By Maud Ballington Booth; Stirs Over 1,200 Prisoners

By Walter LeCraw.

With a ringing "message of hope" that stirred the hearts of over twelve hundred men in prison uniform before her, Maud Ballington Booth, head of the Volunteer Prison league, and known as "little mother" to the prisoners throughout America, spoke at the federal penitentiary in Atlanta Sunday morning. Words of inspiration, hope and love such as that they have seldom heard before were listened to with attentive ears by the men gathered from the four corners of a nation to be punished by the government for their mistakes.

But it was not as sinners, nor even as prisoners that Maud Ballington Booth addressed those before her. She called them lovingly her "boys," and she spoke to them of their inherent ability to make good and worthy citizens, to serve their God, their nation and their fellow beings, and to do their duty in this world like men.

In the audience that heard her were some strange, strange faces, to be spoken to in such words of love. There were eyes of steel and faces of iron that looked up at the earnest woman on the platform—speaking to them, pleading to them, with outstretched arms. Not a sound was heard throughout the great hall as her stirring voice rang out the message of hope for more than an hour. The restlessness of an average audience was totally lacking here. It would have seemed as if she were talking to lifelike statues but for the occasional head that bowed down, humbly, as the words reached and stirred some man's soul.

"Here to Learn to Live."

"You're here to learn to live," she cried out, during her talk. "This should be the beginning, not the end—yes, the beginning of a new life. For you can build the foundation here and now, that will help you weather the storms of life in the future. Build the foundation deep. It is here within your own soul. If you're looking for liberty only to be free, then you'll be no better when you get out. But if you're looking for liberty as a beginning for a new and greater life, God will give you strength, and your hope will lead you on to success."

Speaking of the work of the Volunteer Prison league, Mrs. Booth said there are 20,000 men in prisons throughout the country who are members of the league. She told of the ideals which the league holds before its members—the hope of a straight and worthy life as soon as liberty is secured. She told also of the headquarters maintained by the league in New York, New Orleans and other cities, and the other agencies at work to help its members get on their feet when they are turned out into the world again.

There were already 200 members of the league at the Federal penitentiary in Atlanta. Applications were handed out among the men at the close of her address, and many signed up as members of the league at once. Others took the applications to their cells saying they would "think it over."

A Work of Regeneration.

Many a face was calm and thoughtful as the men filed slowly out of the hall, two by two, and were handed the slips at the door. And many eyes were lit up with a strange light—a ray of hope that long had fled. One thing is certain, that Maud Ballington Booth made the men who composed that audience think—and think as they had seldom done since entering those walls. And in that fact not only they but all society was interested. For in the regeneration of her prisoners, society can surely find her only excuse for herding them together and barring them, even for a time, from their loved ones and from the activities of the world.

Such was the message of Maud Ballington Booth—a message of hope indeed, and a sermon not for prisoners alone, but for all mankind—"build your foundation deep, and build it now, for with hope in your soul, today is never too late."

PASTORS TO PREACH ON TUBERCULOSIS SUNDAY, DEC. 12

It was announced yesterday in most of the churches of Atlanta that Sunday, December 12, will be observed by most denominations throughout the nation as "Anti-Tuberculosis Sunday," and on this day the disease will be discussed from the pulpit. Dr. J. Wade Conkling, pastor of the Unitarian church, is chairman of the educational committee of the Anti-Tuberculosis association.

Church workers are helping in many ways in the Red Cross Christmas Seal Campaign, which this year is in charge of the Ad Men's Club of Atlanta and is a means of raising a fund every year for the support of the Anti-Tuberculosis association.

Among the organizations which are helping with the sale of these seals are the Greek Letter fraternities of Georgia Tech. Each fraternity will dispose of ten dollars worth of seals.

Another energetic body is the Third Ward Civic club, which will take a leading part in the street sales. They will establish twenty-five stations all over the city. Twenty-five ladies of the club have been appointed by Dr. Florence Truax, president of the club, and each of these ladies will obtain four others, making 125 in all. This large committee will be active during the entire week beginning December 6.

Those appointed are: Mrs. F. V. L. Smith, Mrs. J. W. Hinchcliff, Mrs. N. H. Kirkpatrick, Mrs. J. S. Kinsey, Mrs. George A. Clayton, Mrs. T. M. Word, Mrs. A. J. Moss, Mrs. John Justis, Mrs. D. H. Floyd, Mrs. H. R. King, Mrs. E. P. Burns, Mrs E. L. Harling, Miss Katherine Smith, Mrs. Rauchenburg, Mrs. Palmer, Mrs. F. A. Parkins, Mrs. J. M. Jackson, Mrs. John Hardwick, Mrs. John Burgess, Mrs. Jessie Hudson, Miss Josephine Burns, Miss Elisabeth Clayton, Mrs. C. P. White, Miss Irene White, Mrs. Sid Holland.

I. E. GREEN, SHOT BY LACEY TRUETT, EXPECTED TO DIE

Moultrie, Ga., November 28.—(Special.)—I. E. Green, a prominent sawmill man and naval store factor of this county, was shot and probably mortally wounded late last night by Lacey Truett, a farmer.

Truett fled immediately after the shooting and still eludes the officers.

Green and George Truett, a younger brother of Lacey Truett, had trouble just before the former was shot. It is said that Green struck George Truett after George had cursed him while the two were quarrelling over some trivial incident. Lacey Truett, who was standing nearby, resenting the attack on George Truett by Green, who is a powerful man physically, shot him. The bullet took effect in Green's back and ploughed its way clear through his body.

Tonight it was said that he had but a slight chance to recover. The trouble occurred near Moultrie, where all of the principals make their homes.

MERRITT BIRDSONG DIES; PIONEER MACON CITIZEN

Macon, Ga., November 28.—(Special.) Merritt Birdsong, one of the pioneer residents of Macon, died at his home this evening following a long illness. For many years he was a merchant, but in recent years had been engaged in raising live stock in the swamps below the city. He was 71 years of age, and a confederate veteran.

Besides his wife, Mr. Birdsong leaves several sons and daughters, they being Mrs. Henry Thomas and Wilse Birdsong, of Macon; B. T. Birdsong, of Columbia, S. C.; Joe B. Birdsong, of St. Louis; Leo Birdsong, of Pittsville, Pa.; Bradley Birdsong, of Savannah, and Marcus and George Birdsong. He also leaves one sister, Mrs. Henry O'Neal, of Cochran. The funeral will be held here Tuesday.

POINT MADE BY WATSON MAY CAUSE LONG BATTLE

Editor Claims Entire Issues of Magazine Should Go Before the Jury.

Augusta, Ga., November 28.—Trial of Thomas E. Watson, of Thomson, Ga., charged with sending obscene matter through the United States mails, will be resumed in federal court here tomorrow with prospects of a lengthy legal battle on Watson's plea that the entire copies of his publication containing the alleged improper matter should be placed before the jury, and not merely the articles objected to by the government. It also was said that Watson might take the stand in his own defense.

Watson, who is a member of the Georgia bar, has acted as his own chief counsel, has summoned no witnesses, but has reserved the right to introduce them, should he believe it necessary. The government completed its introduction of evidence shortly before the adjournment of court Saturday, and rested its case. Watson thus far has declined to say whether or not he would introduce witnesses. He tried Saturday, however, to get before the jury the complete issues of his publications, offering to introduce these in evidence. The government objected, and court was adjourned before the question was argued.

Watson previously had been overruled in his contention that the government should introduce the complete magazines containing the articles. Watson claimed that the issues of the magazines as a whole should be judged, and that they should not be judged by portions "arbitrarily taken from them."

Watson also was expected to make another effort to get before the jury his motives in publishing the articles mentioned in the indictment. He already has been overruled on one point in this connection.

The articles mentioned in the indictment were published in 1911 and 1912 in "Watson's Jeffersonian Magazine," in "Watson's Magazine" and in "The Jeffersonian." They consisted of attacks upon the Roman Catholic church. Language used in the attacks was claimed by the government to be outlawed from the mails.

The case will enter tomorrow upon its third day, and it was thought tonight that it would take probably all of Monday and possibly part of Tuesday to complete it.

Nash Indorses Plans To Improve Efficiency Of Organized Militia

Adjutant General J. Van Holt Nash has received a copy of the report of the legislative committee of the National Guard association, which met in San Francisco recently, memorializing congress for legislation looking to improving the efficiency of the organized militia. Adjutant General Nash indorses the plans set forth in the report and hopes to see congress enact legislation in the direction indicated.

Governor Harris has long been outspoken in his advocacy of improvement of the militia, and strongly urged a larger state appropriation for the militia of Georgia. Governor Harris has also expressed himself in favor of President Wilson's plan for "preparedness," all of which is in line with the proposals of the National Guard association.

The recommendations contained in the report are as follows:

First, that this association approve the increase in the regular army as recommended by the president of the United States.

Second, that this association recommend the adoption by the congress and ratification by the states of such an amendment to the federal constitution as will make the organized militia of the United States available for federal service, within or without the continental limits of the United States, to the same extent that the regular armies of the United States are by law available, granting to the congress the right to prescribe the training, discipline and equipment thereof, reserving to the several states the control of their forces in time of peace, the appointment of their officers in accordance with a uniform system to be prescribed by the congress, and the organization, location and arrangement of the units thereof, and providing for the organization of a federal militia in any state or states in which an organized militia shall not be maintained by the authorities thereof in accordance with national requirements.

Third, that this association urge upon congress that such legislation be enacted as will make the national guard immediately available as the first line of the proposed citizenry army.

Fourth, that this association recommend the enactment of the proposed legislation for the increase of the efficiency of the organized militia, embodying the principle of compensation for militia service in order to meet the exactions of existing law.

Fifth, that the executive committee of this association be authorized and directed to take all necessary steps to procure the enactment into law of the recommendations of the association, including authority to call a special session of this association if the same be deemed necessary.

HARVEST FESTIVAL PICTURES WILL BE SHOWN AT FORSYTH

Atlanta will see herself as others saw her and as hundreds of thousands more will view her when the first motion pictures of the recent Harvest Festival to be exhibited will be shown as an added feature of the Forsyth program this week. Manager George H. Hickman announced last night that these pictures have been secured for exhibition at the Forsyth at the first moment after release and will be seen as the main portion of the latest Pathe news.

So extraordinary did the Pathe news consider the Harvest Festival scenes that almost a third of a reel is devoted to them. All of the principal events of the week were caught by the camera man and Atlanta people will enjoy the unique distinction of seeing themselves on parade.

After being shown at the Forsyth these pictures will be exhibited in about 8,000 theaters all over America.

MOULTRIE CAN HANDLE THOUSAND HOGS A DAY

Moultrie, Ga., November 28.—(Special.)—With the completion of the $150,000 extension to the Moultrie Packing company's plant next week, the killing capacity of the plant will be increased from 500 to 1,000 hogs a day. From five to fifteen cars of hogs are being received daily, besides the large number brought in by wagon, and with the enlarging of the plant it will tax t to its capacity to handle the increased business.

The packing house has been in operation a year and has passed the experimental stage. It has already paid out to the farmers of this section more than $1,000,000 and has encouraged the raising of live stock in Colquitt county to such an extent that the cotton crop this year will be off fully 50 per cent from last year's, the decreased yield being due entirely to the cutting down of the acreage planted in the staple.

REWARD IS OFFERED FOR COLQUITT GUARD

Moultrie, Ga., November 28.—(Special.)—The board of county commissioners at a special meeting held yesterday afternoon offered a reward of $250 for the arrest and delivery to the sheriff of Colquitt of Albert Maples, former convict guard, who is charged with the murder of C. B. Gilmore, county warden. Governor Harris has been asked to supplement the reward by a similar sum. J. B. Lamar, of Waycross, has been named as Mr. Gilmore's successor.

PRESIDENT'S POLICY OF "PREPAREDNESS" INDORSED IN PULPIT

"Preparedness" was the subject of Dr. A. R. Holderby's sermon Sunday morning at East Point Presbyterian church, and is, in part, as follows:

"No one need be alarmed at my subject, as I do not intend to preach a political sermon, or even intimate that our nation should declare war against any other nation, yet I am free to say that President Wilson is right when he urges the duty of being prepared for war.

"Self-preservation is the first law of nature, and, therefore, every man and every nation should be prepared for self-protection. The nation prepared for war is not likely to be invaded by any other nation.

"That is a foolish nation that does not strengthen its defenses and see that its army and navy are kept upon a proper war footing.

"If it be so important for a man and for nations to protect their material interests and their natural lives, how much more important for men and nations to be prepared to meet the assaults of the devil. He attasks men when he knows they are not prepared. There is a defensive armor that God exhorts every man to put on, which is proof against all sin and against the attacks of satan. The Apostle Paul urges us 'to put on the whole armor of God, he says that ye may be able to withstand the wiles of the devil.' And then he names the various pieces of the armor, the girdle of truth—the breastplate of righteousness—the shield of faith and the helmet of salvation and then to take the Sword of the Spirit. With this armor every man would be in a state of "preparedness for this spiritual warfare.'"

10 to 60% Advance on Oil Stock, Dec. 1

To Investors:

Another advance on oil indicates war demands may force $2.00 barrel crude. The Uncle Sam Oil Company, looking far ahead, raised new capital and bought up a big property in the Eastern Distrfict of the Great Cushing Oil field and also secured another big lease across the Arkansas River from the rich Boston Oil Pool.

This Company has three Refineries, two of which are connected with our exempted pipe line 165 miles long, connecting these two refineries with 120 of our 127 producing wells and the greater percentage of our 1500 acres of deeded land and about ten thousand acres of oil and gas leases.

This Company has over Two Hundred locations on proven grounds in the high grade oil district that it should drill at once.

To start the balance of 15 to 20 drills the stockholders increased the capital of the Company one-third and this stock has been allotted on a dividend basis among the over 16,000 stockholders who are rapidly paying in new capital.

The Company expects to raise over a million dollars from the new capital and soon increase the crude oil production to over ten thousand barrels per day. We are at work at this hour on 6 different locations that may increase our production an additional 5,000 to 10,000 barrels per day. A visit to the oil fields on our property will convince you that we have properties that can easily develop oil pools that should pour out millions. Millions have been made in Oil and millions will be made in oil, but it takes a lot of capital to build up on a big, substantial basis.

The present stockholders would not approve a sale now for our combined properties, including good will and established trade at less than Twenty Million Dollars. The stockholders believe in the future of the Company. We have a good fighting chance to protect our great Osage Lease of 426,000 acres or uncover sufficient evidence to maintain a suit against the Trust under the Sherman Anti-Trust Law of three times Four Hundred Million Dollars, or a total of Twelve Hundred Million Dollars.

The Uncle Sam Oil Company is the only real practical effort ever made against the Oil and Gas Monopoly in the Middle West. It has gone from persecution to prosperity.

Join a winner by becoming a stockholder at once in this growing, independent and help drive the drills on proven grounds while crude oil is rapidly advancing and may soon reach $2.00 per barrel. The demand now grows greater each week and will be greater after the war.

STRIKES RICH OIL POOL.

Since this advertisement was first published one of our deep wells on our big Cushing property has developed a flowing well in the Wheeler sand. The well is now 3493 feet deep and flowed oil clear over the top of the derrick. Our field men estimate that it will make from 150 to 200 barrels natural. When completed it should make about 600 barrels daily for awhile.

MAY MEAN REAL GUSHER IN THE DEEPER SAND.

This well at this depth is a big surprise to everyone and is proof that we have a rich property. The rule has been in the great Cushing field that usually under the Wheeler sand wells the great gushers have been found by deeper drilling. 150 feet more should reach one big producing sand, while 300 feet should reach the second. Our chances are good now to soon have from 6000 to 7000-barrel wells. Our other Cushing wells should reach the deep pay within ten to twenty days. When all are completed a great production is assured.

We have put up tankage—made six more locations and rushed our pipe line extension from both ends. We have now sold at eighteen cents per barrel bonus or $1.18 per barrel all the oil we do not need for our own refineries, with chances good for $1.50 per barrel within a few weeks. Under these conditions this real oil stock will probably be advanced sixty per cent on December first—if not all sold by that date. A 10,000-barrel production will soon pay stockholders more than they need now remit to own the stock and such a production may be actually secured within a few days, with room around our present wells for over one hundred producers in the different sands on this Cushing property alone.

Also at a new well on our Big Ranch Creek lease in Pawnee County we have developed over one hundred feet of deep Bartlesville sand and proved up a district larger than the Rich Boston oil pool—with oil wells and deep tests containing oil or gas on all sides. We will at once drill in the heart of this big property where from 200 to 2,000-barrel wells may be expected.

If you want to join with an army of Red-Blooded Americans in a just cause against the brute power of criminal money with chances good for a profit of 200 to 1, then get busy quick and either write for Full Particulars or forward your remittance forthwith according to the special offer herein.

We have our own distributing stations, tank cars and tank wagons and automobile trucks.

This Company is established and has demonstrated its ability to protect itself against the trickery of the Trust.

Our Cushing property is within about a mile of a reported 6000-barrel well. When developed may produce over ten million barrels.

The par value of this stock is one dollar, and our capital stock is equal to the developed value of our Osage Lease when validated. By becoming a stockholder at once you will secure a stock Allotment which is a conditional dividend. We are not trying to load you up, but will give you a fair run for your money. You will like this Company when you get acquainted. This advertisement will reach over Twenty Million people. Thousands are figuring on the stock. Help yourself and this worthy Company by becoming a stockholder on a substantial basis, so we can push the drills on our proven properties and buy up and develop other properties. The Uncle Sam Oil Company will be the big, successful competitor of the rich Monopoly. Join our Company and help build The Uncle Sam Oil Company so strong financially that it can protect all its big properties and become a National Benefactor to the public and a great profit-maker on an honest basis for its stockholders.

The stock is non-assessable, and the cash payment together with your agreement to remain loyal to the Company is accepted by the Company as full payment, if the Company approves you as a stockholder. It wants none but loyal, patriotic, liberty-loving citizens as its stockholders, and therefore reserves the right to approve or reject any subscriptions to its stock. If you should not be approved your money will be promptly returned to you.

For Reference—You can write to either of the big Mercantile Agencies at Kansas City.

Keep Away From Drugs

LAXATIVES and cathartics, used continuously, only accentuate the condition they are meant to cure.

Nujol, a pure, white mineral oil, is the recognized common-sense remedy for constipation. It conforms to the requirements of the well-known Lane treatment.

Nujol is odorless and tasteless, absolutely neutral, and is not digested or absorbed into the system. It acts merely as a mechanical lubricant.

Nujol is not a drug. Its use will not give quick, temporary relief. But Nujol is a genuine remedy in that it relieves constipation in the most natural way by lubricating the lining of the intestines, softening the intestinal contents, and thus promoting healthy and normal bowel activity.

A MISTAKEN POLICY.

The filing at this time by the railroads covering the southeastern territory of notice of a general increase in freight rates, effective January 1, 1916, is a mistaken, if not a dangerous, policy.

Announcement, just made, of the filing of this notice with the interstate commerce commission has aroused the merchants of Atlanta through the Atlanta Freight bureau, to an organized protest against the proposed increase, and they have already employed counsel to represent them in the determined fight that will unquestionably be made.

It is unfortunate that this application for a general increase in freight rates should come at this time. The railroads of the south and southeast have weathered the storm of political demagogy and, following that, the depression resulting from the European war, better than the railroads of any other section of the United States. They have suffered from these conditions, it is true; but so has every other line of business, and, considering conditions which for several years past have affected the entire country, they have had no more, and probably less, than their share of misfortune in the direction of decreased income.

It seems, therefore, a serious mistake for the railroads of the southeast to attempt to enforce and justify a general rate increase at a time when conditions of returning prosperity are paramount, and there are rapidly accumulating indications of a better feeling between the people and the corporations, more particularly the railroads. With anything like satisfactory business conditions which are gradually returning, and the early realization of which every one now anticipates, the railroads of this territory should prosper under the present system of freight rates in greater degree than ever before. We are told in the dispatches that every railroad in the United States of any consequence has recently been forced to add materially to its equipment in order to handle current business; and, more than that, that the demand for freight cars is greater than ever before in the country's history.

Under these conditions, reinforced as they are by the feeling of confidence that the one-time wave of public indignation has now expended its force, it is manifestly their best and safest policy to continue upon the present rate basis under which, with improved business conditions and extensive demand for transportation service, they must surely prosper.

It will be far better for the railroads to withdraw this application at this time and not to tempt again the public indignation with which they have had abundant experience; but if they insist upon it, there is no question that cities throughout the south affected alike by proposed increases will join in the protest and appeal to the interstate commerce commission to suspend these rates until a full showing of the merchants and consumers' side of it can be made.

The Atlanta merchants are right in the stand they have taken. The railroads in this territory, considering time and conditions, have unquestionably made a mistake. It is bad policy from their standpoint to bring on this issue. They should withdraw it now while there is yet time.

THE BOY SCOUTS.

Good news of the Boy Scouts comes from all sections of the country. The organization is constantly growing in strength and usefulness. In Europe they are performing splendid service of a military nature, so that voluntary testimony in military circles is: "We don't know what we would do without them."

Of a recent parade of Boy Scouts in Baltimore The Baltimore Sun, speaking of the organization as a school of higher manhood, says:

> That these boys as individuals will never go to battle, should their country need them, is too much to expect. But it is a fine idea to keep them as an organization pledged to constructive and healing service, like the Red Cross, vowed, as it were, to works of chivalry and benevolence rather than of hostility and destruction. And with the training which they receive as Boy Scouts in manly virtues and humane conduct they will be fit to acquit themselves like heroes on any battlefield of peace or war.

At the beginning of the European war there were 5,000 Boy Scouts in Belgium alone, and England misses no opportunity to pay tribute to them.

The organization everywhere means preparedness for noble manhood and higher citizenship.

The Boy Scouts are state builders and country builders, and the future of the country will be safe in their hands.

PRACTICAL DEFENSE.

The Constitution publishes today the first of a series of three articles from Congressman William Schley Howard, of the fifth, dealing with the widely discussed problem of the national defense from an intensely practical standpoint. The other articles, presenting the situation from the viewpoint of combined economy and efficiency, will follow in The Constitution of Tuesday and Wednesday.

In his first article Congressman Howard clearly indicates one of the impelling reasons for failure to build a more adequate defense than we now have. This is the political extravagance which has characterized both army and navy; and particularly the constant raids upon the national treasury to meet pension payments, which now aggregate $173,000,000 annually, more than half a century after the close of the civil war.

This political extravagance has also been of the "pork barrel" variety in the erection of unnecessary army posts and stations purely to satisfy local clamor. It has, likewise, created what is known as the "swivel chair admiralty," a term applied to officers retired early to make room for promotions, and many of whom have never had a real command at sea in their lives.

Extravagant policies of this sort are naturally calculated to detract from the popularity of proposals to increase army and navy, and have no doubt operated materially against it in the past. In any event, they have absorbed moneys which might have gone into the upbuilding of an actual system of defense.

But, regardless of past extravagance, events in Europe have so impressed the people of the United States with the importance of adequate plans of defense that there is popular demand today for improvement along reasonable and economical lines to the extent necessary for our safety and security.

Congressman Howard shows that the American navy today, ship for ship, and gun for gun, is greater than that of Germany, and second only to that of England. However, the problem of division of the navy between Atlantic and Pacific is an important one with which we have to contend. More than anything else the European war has demonstrated the defensive power of the submarine, and we have here the possibility of an economical, and at the same time an efficient, method of naval extension. The value of the fast armored cruiser is, of course, an important factor; but it is unquestionably submarines and vessels of the smaller type in which the American navy is most deficient.

Congressman Howard subscribes to and approves the administration program of building within the next six years an army, including regulars and reserves, of at least 400,000 men; but he holds that none of the plans yet suggested offer satisfactory solution of that problem. He shows that we have been losing more than half the efficiency of our present regular army plant by maintaining the infantry company on a peace basis of 65 instead of recruiting to the war strength of 150. If fifty officers can handle a regiment of 1,800 men in time of war, it stands to reason that it is extravagance to put that number in charge of 780 men in time of peace.

Advocating the strengthening and upbuilding of an efficient national guard, Congressman Howard offers an interesting plan for the formation of a regular and reserve army, ultimately to reach, within six or seven years, a total strength of half a million men. This plan contemplates state army posts under federal control, with two years' full service and four years' reserve service—a service to be rendered wholly within the state unless there should arise need for field service elsewhere. Service on this basis would certainly encourage enlistment.

The first thing to do is to remove the defense problem as far as possible from politics and then build it on a basis of that economy which shall be thoroughly consistent with efficiency.

It is the national security only at which we should aim, and beyond that, where we should approach the danger point of power that breeds the spirit of offense, there is neither sense nor reason in our going.

Good Times Comin' On.

I.

Shadows in the heavens—every hope seemed gone,
But singin' of the sunshine an' good times comin' on!
Looked like all was over—joy o' life withdrawn,
But still he heard the music of good times comin' on.

II.

He knew there must be shadows upon the hill and plain;
That roses in Life's garden would all thank God for rain;
And in the rain descending he saw a gleam of light:
Rain only rims the roses and weaves their red and white!

III.

Shadows in the heavens, but shadows pass away;
Morning is more than morning that breaks through mists of gray;
And life to life is callin', even when hope seems gone,
So, still we hear the music of good times comin' on!

A Memory of Old Days.

The Musket Ridge Philosopher makes this inquiry for an old boyhood friend:

"I never see a battling stick nowadays. Gee, but I used to wield one of those splintered paddles when I was younger. We had an old slab bench with four pegs for legs, and on this bench I would lay the clothes and then soap them and whale the very dickens out. (Also bust up the buttons and beat out the dirt.) Pardon me for mentioning it, boys, but I was just wondering what had become of that system of laundering."

Our National Defense

First Installment: Economic Military Monstrosities

By William Schley Howard, M. C.

Editor Cohstitution: The question of national defense seems to be paramount in the minds of the American people, if the press reports are indicative of public sentiment.

It is to be regretted that our country seems to be dividing into two distinct factions, to wit: Irrational and ruinous preparedness and no preparedness. Some of our citizens are worked up to the "cold shivers" stage, and believe that Japan or Germany, or even Villa, will come over under the cover of darkness and take our country from us and place us in everlasting bondage.

Others can see only a "battle of roses" in the future. How sublime would such a future be! But the great nations of the earth, locked in deadly combat, are not fighting such a battle. The most scientific, the most destructive engines of death and devastation are being used for the annihilation of the white race.

If I shall be permitted to do so, I would like to present to the country the real situation as to national defense as it exists; that is to say, our present state of preparedness, the cost of our military establishment, its efficiency and weaknesses, the wasteful and inefficient administration, where we have thus far been led and where we must stop.

Let us for the moment eliminate the commercialism of war and the preparation for war. Let me speak to those of our citizens who go to the fields, the shops, the stores and the mills, humming the national anthem:

"My country, 'tis of thee,
Sweet land of liberty,
Of thee I sing."

There should be a complete divorce from politics so far as our national defense is concerned. Certainly this is one question we can debate and settle, as a whole nation, without prejudice or bias as to party affiliations, section or class.

Two Things Demonstrated.

The present titanic European struggle has demonstrated beyond the cavil of doubt two things: That no amount of preparedness is any insurance against war; that no nation can conclude when it is adequately prepared, for it can have no assurance beforehand with what nation the breach may occur.

So we may as well concede that we can not purchase perpetual peace with munitions of war and battleships. So also, unless we are endowed with supernatural foresight, we cannot determine which nation will engage us in war.

Therefore, there are but two policies to pursue: Prepare to such an extent that we expect to meet all of the great world powers at once; or, prepare our nation for war in such manner that we can arm, equip and muster into service with reasonable rapidity a percentage of our citizens who have been trained in military tactics and strategy, sufficient to repel an attack from a first-class world power.

Preparation for war is the most expensive of all governmental activities. This is true even when the most scrupulous economy is practiced. It seems almost impossible to eliminate the spirit of commercialism from dominating any propaganda for preparedness. In fastening its fangs into our program for preparedness it appeals to political ends to meet its demands, and when this condition exists we go headlong into foolish and wasteful extravagance without any regard for efficiency and effectiveness.

Politics, inch by inch, crept into our pension system, until candidates for congress in certain states of the union make the amount that can be gotten from the treasury for the old soldier the sole issue of the campaign. You can see to what extent we have been led in profligacy in granting pensions by the sum annually appropriated fifty-one years after the civil war. This year we appropriated, in round numbers, $173,000,000. This one annual appropriation equaled the amount paid in five years by all the other nations of the earth up to the outbreak of the European war. In the war with Spain our enlisted strength amounted to 215,000 men. Our losses from killed and wounded did not exceed two hundred men. Fifteen years after this war one out of every seven had successfully connected himself with Uncle Sam's payroll for the balance of his natural life.

A Million a Year Abroad.

Actually, we send over a million dollars abroad every year to pay foreigners pensions, natural citizens of other countries, who no doubt received large bounties to enlist in the United States army for service.

We have lost sight of the only legitimate reason for the payment of a pension to a citizen who fought for his country, to wit: Indigency and wounds. Hundreds and hundreds of men of means, who have every comfort and luxury, who are free from wounds or disease, annually draw their pension from the treasury.

Has not this system instilled in the hearts and minds of our citizenry a mercenary rather than a patriotic conception of an American soldier?

From all sides we hear the command, increase our navy; increase our standing army. Very well. How many more superdreadnaughts, dreadnaughts, battle cruisers, scout cruisers, torpedo destroyers and submarines do we need? Who will assume this responsibility? None of our naval experts have laid the keel for such a program.

Seventy-one cents of every dollar we collected in revenue from all sources in 1914 went for army, navy and pensions.

In 1913 our ordinary expenditures were $682,000,000, of which $160,000,000 were military, $133,000,000 naval, $175,000,000 military pensions, making a total of $468,000,000.

The most unpopular act of the democratic party was the special war tax act, made necessary by the decrease in customs duties on account of European conditions. The maximum this law sought to raise was one hundred million dollars. Letters are pouring into congressmen and senators asking that this law be not re-enacted. What will the people say when they are asked to contribute four to five hundred million for an indefinite period?

Taxpayers Pay for It All.

It takes a most blatant demagogue to preach a doctrine to the people that the federal government is a great far-away-from-the-folk benevolent association. The truth is the taxpayers pay for every benefit they derive from the national government, and pay the "top of the market" every time. The farmer pays for his rural delivery service; the merchant pays for his city delivery service; we pay for the boll weevil experts, the cattle tick "pickers," the farmers' bulletins, and last, but not least, senatorial filibusters. They all cost money—lots of money—and the people foot the bills. As Governor Ferguson, of Texas, wisely said to the general assembly of that state:

> "The public must sooner or later learn that the government is not an apple tree whose fruit can be plucked at will and resupplied by nature. The government is the people, and whatever burdens the government must, in the last analysis, burden the people."

The very best thing for the people at this time is correct information in detail of what we have in stock in the way of an army and navy to show for the $3,538,541,023.31 we have expended in fourteen years. If we have an inferior army and an inefficient navy after the taxpayers have expended this stupendous sum, then somebody has been stealing our money, or those who were in charge of these expenditures have been criminally wasteful and extravagant.

As a patriotic American, I am unwilling for the people of this country, especially my own constituents, to be imbued with the idea that their money has been squandered and we have only a makeshift for a navy. The truth is that our navy is so far superior to all the navies of the world except those of England and Germany that a comparison would be ridiculous.

Before the European war (and all of them have sustained losses) we had ten more battleships than France, twenty more than Japan, twenty-four more than Russia, and twenty-two more than Italy.

They told us in 1914 that our navy was inferior to Germany's. Let us compare and see if this is true. We have thirty-nine battleships, fifteen armored cruisers, ten monitors, making sixty-four armored ships in all. Germany has thirty-nine battleships and sixteen cruisers, making fifty-five armored ships. Figuratively speaking, our ships would make a line sixteen miles long and Germany's would be twelve miles long.

Gun Force Is What Counts.

This in fact proves but little as to the naval strength of either Germany or the United States. Gun force is what counts in naval engagements. Judge Witherspoon, of Mississippi, one of the most painstaking, thoroughly informed men in congress, made a minute scientific comparison of the gun forces of our country and Germany. Here is what he said:

> "We have on our battleship fleet 492 guns, on our dreadnaught fleet 144 guns, on our armored cruisers 264 guns, and on our monitors 26, making a total of 926 guns on the armored vessels of our navy. Germany has 380 guns on her battleship fleet, 202 on her dreadnaughts, 255 on her armored cruisers, making a total of 837, showing that we have in number of guns 89 more guns on our armored vessels than there are on the armored vessels of the German navy."

To make a long story short, every armored vessel we have in our navy is superior in gun force to every vessel in the German navy, ship for ship. This statement was true until the launching of the New York and Oklahoma, as the last two dreadnaughts of the German navy carried sixteen 15-inch guns, which were larger than any guns we carried until the New York and Oklahoma were launched.

Of course, the American people have not been taken into the confidence of the navy department, and they have made no effort to correct the fugitive statements made by the magazines and through the press about the woeful condition of our navy.

The following comparison of expenditures of the United States and Germany, taken from official documents, might be interesting to those who want to know facts:

From 1904 to 1912, inclusive, the United States expended on her naval establishment $1,079,434,210.49. Germany, during the same period, expended $668,316,799. It is true our naval officers are paid the best salaries in the world. So are our enlisted men, but one-fifth of all expenditures is said to be a correct basis to figure pay allowances for officers and men, so Germany paid as much in proportion to her appropriations as we paid in the United States to our officers and men.

By a dollars and cents comparison we should have much more to show for our expenditures than we have, and it is only an evidence that an economic reorganization of our navy is necessary.

In the face of the actual facts as to our naval power, we have the losses being incurred each week by the other great naval powers of the earth. By the process of elimination we are gaining daily in naval strength. In addition to this, the appropriation of the last congress was the largest in the history of the navy.

What Submarine Has Done.

Fifteen months have elapsed since Europe fired her first gun. Not a single naval engagement of any note has taken place. The submarine has put the tremors in all the crews of the nations engaged. The mightiest and fleetest of battleships and cruisers have been their victims.

The great trouble with our navy has been that it was "top-heavy." We as a nation went wild in 1907 on the super-dreadnaught type of vessel, until one of our great naval experts, testifying before a committee of congress, stated that if we were to become engaged in a naval battle with one of the great powers we would have to bring in nine of our most formidable battleships and protect them from destruction with our coast or harbor defenses. Why? Because our experts had failed to provide the necessary auxiliaries to accompany our dreadnaughts, destroyers, scout cruisers, cruisers and submarines. The very large appropriation carried in the present bill for naval defense corrects and provides for the necessary auxiliary ships, making our first line effective and balanced.

Another strange condition that can only be explained by the naval officers themselves—but I have never seen any attempt at such explanation: On twenty-one battleships in our fleet we are considerably over 5,000 men short, although the pay of our enlisted men is as high or higher than the pay of any other nation on earth, and their allowance much more liberal. There is a reason. Ask any old enlisted man. One reason why we cannot enlist men in the American navy easily except in times of panic is that more court-martials reach the judge advocate general's office for petty offenses than go to the same office from the largest navy on earth. Secretary Daniels has devoted much time and study to the enlisted men and has done, and is doing, much to stimulate enlistment.

Not Enough Enlistments Now.

It might be interesting to know that this year a prominent ex-naval officer, a member of the naval committee of the house, seriously urged congress to build as rapidly as Germany and Japan together, or construct six capital ships or super-dreadnaughts a year. Yet, with our present program, with the most alluring posters and the most convincing recruiting officers, we cannot persuade enough American boys to enlist in our navy to man our ships. As it is now, an Anglo-Saxon American would stand aghast if he could hear an assembly roll called on one of our ships. Really this would be most enlightening to our people.

The American boy revolts at being made a "lackey boy" for officers, to do menial service, when he sees plainly written in the army-navy regulations a prohibitive clause against it.

Attend a polo game, or any social function in Washington, and see with your own eyes the character of service an American soldier is called upon to perform under the guise of "military" service, then you may understand why it is no easy matter to recruit sailors or soldiers.

Then again, look over our retired list. See the enormous retired salaries being paid to men in the very prime of life at the very height of their efficiency, sacrificed upon the altar of "promotion" or social unpopularity.

I make bold the assertion, and will gladly give names to those who doubt this statement, that we have naval officers on the retired list today in the grade of rear admiral who never commanded a torpedo boat, much less a squadron or fleet, and would become violently seasick five miles from shore on account of the little sea service they saw while on the active list of officers. There was a distinct set of officers in the navy known as the "swivel chair admiralty," who held high rank undeserved by merit and sea service.

Gaze upon the magnificent equipages. Depot wagons, drawn by magnificent spans, conveying the wives of majors, colonels and generals to the afternoon teas and swell receptions of the idle rich. Who foots these bills and pays the drivers and feed bills? The people. Look back over the debate in the senate and read Senator Bacon's remarks on this practice, which he denounced as outrageous and indefensible.

Look at the political navy yards scattered up and down the Atlantic coast. Millions upon millions appropriated for them. Not a single Atlantic navy yard can dock the superdreadnaught vessels of our navy. Why were these projects undertaken? To gratify political combinations formed for the purpose of "bringing the bacon home."

My purpose in calling attention to these things, many others of which I have made no mention, is that the people should demand, and I feel sure will demand, immediate reform in these extravagances and shameless outrages that have been committed in the past and will continue to be perpetrated in the future unless the people speak to their servants in no uncertain terms.

It is with confidence that I make the assertion that if we stop up the enormous leaks in our appropriations for national defense an additional sum not in excess of thirty million dollars annually will amply provide for a standing army of 150,000 men, supplying a reserve army of four hundred thousand trained and equipped soldiers after the sixth year, and a navy adequate to furnish complete assurance that our country's honor will be maintained and our homes and firesides secure.

CITY HALL GOSSIP

GUESS THIS, IF YOU'RE ABLE.

By Councilman Edwin F. Johnson.

By many people I am raised
To let you have your syrup,
While some with council raise me just
A row or fuss to stir up.
By old men I am often used,
Their going out to further;
Yet strange to say, long years ago,
I slew my only brother.

The above riddle is by the well-known councilman. He offers a book for the first correct answer sent or telephoned to him.

The answer to the riddle by Zode Smith, published in Sunday's Constitution, is "Pumps."

PUBLIC MEETING ON TUESDAY ON NEW TRAFFIC REGULATIONS

A public meeting has been called by Councilman Ed T. Inman Tuesday afternoon of this week at 3 o'clock in the mayor's committee room for the purpose of hearing from all who wish to discuss the question of better traffic regulations.

A special council committee was appointed a few weeks ago to investigate traffic conditions in the city and Mr. Inman is chairman of that committee.

Several suggestions have been offered as to changes in the traffic laws, and the committee desires to hear from everybody interested before a report is made to council.

OSCAR WILLIAMSON ANNOUNCES; SECOND WARD MEETING TONIGHT

The local political pot has been set boiling over the election of a councilman from the second ward.

Several candidates have announced, or are being announced by their friends, and it looks as if there is going to be a very lively race in the city election on Wednesday of this week.

Oscar H. Williamson, twenty years a resident of Atlanta and one of the most popular railroad men of the city, Sunday formally announced his candidacy. Mr. Williamson has been in the employ of the Southern railway for many years and now holds the position of conductor.

Those whose names have been mentioned so far are: Josephus Loweus, Harvey Hatcher, J. C. Huff, Grover C. Boden, Isaac Schoen and A. N. Thom.

A meeting of second ward citizens will be held tonight in the Georgia avenue school to look over the situation, and if possible, to agree upon a suitable candidate. This meeting is not held in the interest of any one candidate, it is announced.

NEW BUILDING IS WANTED FOR MORELAND AVENUE SCHOOL

Council will be asked to do something about erecting a new building for the Moreland avenue school.

The Parent-Teacher club of the school is behind the movement and it will be assisted by Major R. J. Guinn, president of the board of education, and Superintendent Landrum.

They say that a new building is imperative and an urgent need.

UNIVERSITY HIGH SCHOOL PLAN INSPIRATION, SAYS KRIEGSHABER

Mr. Kriegshaber, who is to be the next president of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, and who has shown a deep interest in all school matters, said:

"It is what The Constitution says, 'an inspiration.' I have lived in Atlanta many years and I have never heard of a more feasible project to give our city what I consider its present greatest need. The school buildings cannot possibly hurt Piedmont park, for they are to be located on a ridge that overlooks the park, or be considered a part of the park proper. The people living in that section of the city ought to rejoice that the old barren, rocky ridge is to be improved with a lot of fine buildings. I would much rather have a fine university fronting my home than an old field.

"We must have a new high school and to get one that will be used by the entire county and get it at an early date is something that should make us all happy and should move us to get behind the plan as a unit.

"I sincerely hope that no one will raise any objection to the plan and that the park commission, the city council and every citizen of Atlanta will join with the committee and push the project through to an early completion."

Members of the joint committee from the city council, the county board, the city board of education and the county board of education, all say that since the meeting last Friday, when the plan for the high school university was agreed upon and the site at Piedmont park approved, hundreds of prominent business men have spoken to them and have almost to a unit given it their hearty endorsement.

LAST SUNDAY SERVICE IN OLD HOME HELD BY THE FIRST PRESBYTERIANS

"Atlanta is no longer in its childhood," said Dr. J. S. Lyons yesterday morning in preaching upon "Looking Forward," at the First Presbyterian church. "It is feeling this vigor and growth of its entry into adulthood. The conditions which prevailed when it was a smaller community have radically changed, and every live, aggressive force, social and commercial, has adjusted itself to the vastly changed conditions.

"The removal of the First Presbyterian church to its new location is a wise adjustment of the spiritual forces of this community to the new situation. It is leaving a once populous portion of this city, well provided with church facilities, and is going into a rapidly growing section, where, except for the Christian Science building at Fifteenth street, there is not a church of any denomination nearer than a mile and a quarter. It is doubtful if any city in the land has as large and as important a section without church facilities as the portion of this community into which this congregation will move next Sunday."

Dr. Lyons said it would be easy to open the avenues of memory, to call back the faces of many who have lived and worshiped in this congregation, but he wished to avoid a tearful farewell to this old church.

He dwelt upon this duty of ever looking forward with the zeal of the apostle, whose words, "This one thing I do, forgetting those things that are behind, and reaching forth into those things which are before," were the text. He said "everything depends upon your habitual outlook. Some people are always looking down. They are discouraged and gloomy; others are always looking back, they are slow and reactionary, they are always spoiling the splendid present by groaning about the 'good old days; others are always looking around, they are scathing and inefficient; others are habitually looking up, they are usually impractical enthusiasts. The text tells no law to face—look forward, towards life's duty and opportunity.

"I mistake the unanimity of this congregation if their spirit is not that of looking forward, and pressing on through a ministry of faithful service to the prizes of God's high calling in Christ Jesus."

A very large congregation was present, and, which all felt the inevitable sadness of leaving a place hallowed by such long and so tender associations, the feeling of regret was mastered by the happiness of all at the prospect of soon being in the new building in the new location. Work of removal begins this morning. The regular mid-week prayer meeting will be held in the church, while all the regular services of next Sunday will be in the new Sunday school building.

It is probable that an afternoon service will be held next Sunday at which greetings from other churches will be received.

NEED OF PARKS URGED AT PROTEST MEETING

Speakers Favor University High School, But Oppose Erection at Piedmont.

Pronounced disapproval of the proposal to establish the University High school at Piedmont park was expressed at a meeting of citizens in the offices of Evins, Spence & Moore, in the Empire building, yesterday afternoon, when a movement was commenced to bring about the erection of the high school on another site.

The meeting was the outcome of the indorsement of the plan to appropriate the strip of land fronting Tenth street as the location of the high school by the joint committee named by the city and county to bring about the enlarging and combining of all the high schools of the city in one large plant.

The dedication of Piedmont park as a campus would be the destruction of the tract as a park, was the declaration of R. L. Foreman.

Favor High School.

"We are not opposing the building of such a high school. On the other hand, we are heartily in favor of it," said J. J. Spalding. "But we are jealous not only of the park in question, but of every other park in the city. This meeting was called to devise means of arousing public interest in larger parks and to show the gentlemen proposing the new scheme that public sentiment will not support them."

A postal card as well as a personal campaign was decided upon with the purpose of converting city council, every city official and other moving spirits to the argument of maintaining the park intact. A public meeting to discuss the situation will also be called, it was announced.

W. A. Edwards, an architect, stated that the proposed plans were not feasible, since they would not meet the demands of increasing number of children. He pointed out that the present plans could not furnish accommodations for more than a few hundred, and that a plan sufficient for 5,000 boys and girls would require forty acres, or the remainder of the southern strip of the park.

Moral Responsibility Urged.

Owners of stock in the Piedmont tract donated the land in large part to the city, it was pointed out, and the city had taken a moral responsibility at that time to maintain it for park purposes. Citizens had built homes by it because it was a quiet section, it was said, and they did not contemplate a rendezvous for thousands of children.

J. C. Olmstead, the well-known architect, had been paid $4,000 for working out city park plans which would be materially interfered with by the new project, it was argued.

Those attending the meeting were Ben Lee Crew, J. J. Spalding, H. H. Cassil, Amos D. Whitaker, Park Commissioner Cochran, George S. Lowndes, J. R. Nutting, Samuel N. Evins, Thomas H. Scott, William A. Fuller, J. C. Allen, R. L. Foreman, W. D. Ellis, Jr., Mrs. Mary Raoul Millis, Bernard Wilkins, W. A. Edwards and W. H. Adkins.

Mrs. W. L. Peel has furnished The Constitution with the following communication:

Mrs. Peel's Card.

Editor Constitution: Many people were amazed to find that the officials of the city and county were so short-sighted as to suggest taking even a "strip" away from one beautiful park space, even to give to anything as deserving as the schools.

Of course it will not be done. The people of this town will never permit our most beautiful park to be deprived of its Tenth street approach just when everybody is beginning to appreciate parks and to try to invent ways by which we can add to our acreage. There are reasons why the authorities will not do this. There are plenty of other sites to be had, not a few in the immediate vicinity, without taking eight acres from the park. They are simply doing this because they think they can, and because they don't have to pay for it, but can bestow upon the department of education what rightfully belongs to the department of parks. It is quite in line with the little cheap makeshift patchwork that we see in all our public utilities, robbing Peter to pay Paul.

Just as we get our boundaries well defined, and the drive opened and Tenth street made passable, here comes along these "citizens," cast envious eyes, and say "we want that strip for a school." It would be ideal for a school or for anything else, but it belongs to the park. Now, if that were the only spot, it would be different, but there are plenty of sites to be had for the money. That's where the shoe pinches—for the money!

Why should Atlanta forever go along in slipshod antiquated ways when we can afford the very best, if only we insist that it be wisely expended? We can't do it as long as it takes 87 cents to administer a dollar, as the mayor says it does. We want to get some business men to pull us out of these ruts, so that we can take our places with other cities. Talk about high school universities—there is the little city of Salt Lake with 90,000 inhabitants, with bank clearings and postoffice receipts not half what Atlanta can show, with a school costing $700,000 in a park of 100 acres.

Piedmont Park is a public park. It belongs to the public. It does not belong to the school board. It would be an act of such flagrant injustice to the public to take this beautiful place and fill it to overflowing every hour of the day wery thousands of school girls and boys, that it will never be done. It would mean that the use of it was prohibited to all others, for who would seek rest on a college campus?

It is claimed that this "strip" has never been used for park purposes. Certainly not—for it is only just cleared of weeds and rocks, etc., and is not quite yet developed, as it deserves to be, and will be shortly. That is because there has not been sufficient money to do it, on account of the 87 cents.

The other day I was told that the price of an article was 87 cents, and I bought so rarely that I had to apologize and explain. And the saleslady says: "I know it. My water bill is 60 cents a month, and it takes three different men to receive it." So it has had to wait, along with some other things.

While it would be unjust to the public, it would be equally unjust to the school. There are perhaps five or six thousand young people eligible to the University High school. In ten years this number will be doubled, and where will the little "strip" be then? Our park will be mutilated, and our accommodations will be wholly inadequate, for any outdoor sports. I hope that all the good people of Atlanta will sustain me in the hope that no site containing less than twenty-five acres will be considered for a moment. We must build for fifty years hence. We must arrange to have our buildings grow and plenty of room for our young folks to grow. Let's discard forever the idea of taking a "strip" off our most beautiful park and turning it into an everlasting regret that we didn't give the University High school a square deal, when opportunity came our way.

MRS. WILLIAM LAWSON PEEL.

GAMBLING ON MIDWAY SCORED BY PASTORS

Gamblers Worked Under Consent and With Protection of Police, Says Flinn.

Severe condemnation of the recent "midway" which was in Atlanta during Harvest Festival week was delivered from two Presbyterian pulpits on Sunday. Statements were made by Dr. Richard Orme Flinn, pastor of the North Avenue Presbyterian church, and by Dr. Dunbar H. Ogden, pastor of the Central Presbyterian, that open gambling was indulged in with the consent and protection of the police, in spite of the fact that appeals were made to the police to stop the gambling, and in spite of the fact that the grand jury met in special sessions and tried to get officials to enforce the law and stop the gambling.

Dr. Flinn made the further charge in his sermon that the Harvest Festival association itself was largely responsible for the gambling, and profited by it, taking tribute in the form of percentages from the gambling houses to the extent of thousands of dollars, in order to make the Harvest Festival a financial success.

Dr. Flinn's statements were made in his Sunday night sermon, his subject being, "Why Is It Wrong—Some Plain Facts About Gambling." He discussed the history of gambling, and laws against gambling, from the earliest ages down to the present time, and declared that the insidious influence of this evil had wrecked millions of lives and is still a mighty problem.

Dr. Ogden's remarks on gambling were made at his morning service, in connection with a discussion by him of the police situation, during the course of his sermon.

"There is today a conflict in our city" said Dr. Ogden, "which cannot be smothered by the silent treatment which has been applied to it. Every informed person knows that certain of our citizens, some very prominent, are seeking to break down the moral restraints that make our community life safe. The removal from office of one who was seeking to make our city clean and safe must be linked, by thoughtful people, with the open gambling upon our street last week that vitiated every good feature of the fair.

"I am informed that some of this gambling was with 'loaded dice.' To such snares the boys and girls of our homes were exposed while policemen looked on. Our police authorities were appealed to in vain by citizens. The outrage upon public decency was allowed to continue."

JITNEY DRIVERS WILL NAME OFFICERS TONIGHT

The Atlanta Jitney Bus association will meet Monday night in the Trust Company Building of Georgia. The election of officers for the ensuing year will be held and since important matters effecting the operation of jitney in the city will come up all jitney drivers, whether they are members of the association or not, are asked to attend.

M. L. MICHAEL SPEAKS AT JEWISH ALLIANCE

M. L. Michael, Athens, delivered a very intertaining address before the Alliance Sunday school at the Jewish Educational Alliance Sunday. In anticipation of the talk on Sunday school work about 200 children were in attendance. Mr. Michael has been identified with Sunday school work for the past thirty years.

MRS. AMANDA WARNER, PIONEER, DIED SUNDAY

Mrs. Amanda D. Warner, one of the pioneer citizens of the city and widow of Richard Warner, contractor, died yesterday at her residence, 527 Central avenue, after a long illness. She was a member of St. John's Methodist Episcopal church and was an active worker. Mrs. Warner was 86 years old.

The funeral will be held Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the residence, Rev. C. M. Eakes and Rev. J. S. Hemphill officiating. Interment will follow in West View cemetery.

Mrs. Warner is survived by five sons, O. F. Warner, Montgomery; W. C. Warner, New York; H. K. Warner, Texarkana; S. J. and C. J. Warner, Atlanta; four daughters, Mrs. Mollie Barnes, Mrs. L. A. W. McNish and Miss Georgia Warner, Atlanta, and Mrs. J. W. Duke, Oklahoma.

Japanese Naval Estimates.

Tokio, November 28.—The Japanese naval estimates for 1916 total about $50,000,000, a decrease of $3,000,000 from 1915. A supplementary expenditure of $22,500,000 for construction of new warships will be spread over a period of four years. The allotment for 1916 is $3,000,000.

BUSINESS CONDITIONS WILL BE ASCERTAINED

Ad Men's Investigation Wlil Be Conducted in Atlanta by Frank Lowenstein.

Actual business conditions in Atlanta will be ascertained by an investigation which will be commenced this week by Frank E. Lowenstein, of the Atlanta Ad Men's club. The data which he will gather based on the demands of consumers will be sent to the educational research committee of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World, which is making a thorough study of exact business conditions and the prospects for the year 1916.

The selection of Atlanta as one of the business centers to be relied upon in the international report means that it is considered one of the world markets. Beginning December 3, as soon as the business men have closed their books for November, Mr. Lowenstein will call upon representative merchants in leading retail lines and ask a short list of questions which investigating committees find to be a barometer of business.

"We are trying to eliminate guess work from sales and advertising efforts and thus reduce their cost," said Mr. Lowenstein. "All our work is voluntary and none of the investigators nor any member of the committee is to receive one cent for their efforts. The final report is to be dedicated to the American business man.

"There is probably no one question so often asked or so poorly answered as 'How's business?' A man's answer is usually based on his own personal experience or from the gossip he picks up from no-one-seems-to-know-where. We contend that the only real test of business is the variation of the demand of the consumers. The only way to tell whether business is good or poor is to get the percentage of increase or decrease in the amount of money the typical housewife is spending for her groceries, her millinery, her drugs, jewelry, etc. This investigation will be a service to advertisers by showing what sections of the country are most prosperous and where appropriations for the coming year can best be spent. The end subserved will be to make advertising more profitable and business more economical."

This is the second investigation of the kind in the effort of the educational research committee of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the world to read the gauge of business. While business circles were confused last year by the advent of the European war, representative organizations of the associated advertising clubs made an investigation with the demand of the consumer for a basis and discovered the existence of only 3.3 per cent decrease for the month of November, 1914, in comparison with November, 1913, despite the alarming reports flying over the world like wildfire. The circle of business men to be interviewed this week will be greatly enlarged and in view of the fundamental facts collected in the first canvass the second report will be greatly increased in value.

FIVE SPEAKERS PRAISE BOOKER T. WASHINGTON

At the memorial service for Booker T. Washington at the First Congregational church, colored, last night, the same songs and scriptures were used as at his funeral. Dr. C. B. Wilmer, rector of St. Luke's Episcopal church; Rev. H. H. Proctor, pastor First Congregational church; E. H. Webster, of Atlanta university; Henry McBride, graduate of Tuskegee institute, and A. F. Herndon spoke of Dr. Washington's worth.

PROBING THE RECORDS OF UNGER AND KIENZLE

Paris, November 28.—The Lyons correspondent of The Petit Parisien asserts that he has established the identity of Dr. Herbert Kienzle, involved in New York on a conspiracy charge with Robert Unger. The correspondent says that Dr. Kienzle was born at Ulm and formerly was cashier for the firm of Saencer & Buetzchler, of Lyons, now sequestered.

Unger, who is said to have been a subaltern officer in the German army, arrived at Lyons from Frankfort in July, 1913, and left the day before the mobilization of the French army, abandoning two trunks, which detectives seized for examination. The Petit Parisien correspondent avers that he has shown a photograph of the man arrested in New York under the name of Kienzle to employees of the firm of Saencer & Buetzchler, and they all identified him as the former cashier.

The Petit Parisien's representative asserts that Unger made frequent excursions to points where it was possible to obtain information of military value.

The cashier of the Saencer & Buetzchler firm went to New York a month before the mobilization of the French army ostensibly to collect a debt of $165,000, and The Petit Parisien says Unger went there to join him.

Dr. Herbert Kienzle was arrested in New York October 23 last on suspicion of being connected with an alleged conspiracy to blow up munition ships sailing from American ports.

Otto Buelow, whom government officials think is Otto Unger, an officer of the interned German sea raider Prinz Eitel Friedrich, was arrested in Baltimore about a week ago and returned to Norfolk for a hearing on a charge of having broken his parole.

TURKS KILL AMERICAN FOR AIDING ARMENIANS

Basel, Switzerland, November 28.—(Via Paris.)—An American named Lesley and several other foreigners were killed by Turks at Urfa, Mesopotamia, while trying to defend Armenians from the Turks, according to a story printed today in the newspaper Nouvelles de Basle.

A Boston dispatch, November 12, said the American board of commissioners for foreign missions had announced the death of the Rev. Francis H. Leslie, a missionary stationed at Urfa. His death, it was said, was due to poisoning. No details were given. Mr. Leslie's home was at Northport, Mich.

NEW FRENCH WAR LOAN TO BE QUOTED ON BOURSE

Paris, November 28.—Minister of Finance Ribot announces that the new government loan will be quoted on the bourse the same as other government bonds, and that even the certificates will be negotiable pending the issue of the obligations themselves. The Bank of France has offered to advance three-fourths of the value of the new government obligations, not exceeding $60,000 to any one individual.

Many industrial establishments working on government orders organized subscriptions to the new loan by their workmen, advancing half of the first installment on all sums of more than $20. Pastoral letters from the bishops were read in many dioceses today exhorting the faithful to subscribe to the loan.

Coalition for Spain.

Lisbon, November 28.—(Via Paris.)—In view of the resignation of the cabinet of Premier Castro, congress was called in special session and voted in favor of the formation of a national coalition ministry. Both the opposition parties, however, declined to designate members, and the president now has requested Dr. Alfonso Costa, former premier and chief of the democratic party, to form one.

15,000 Bales of Cotton Burned at Pine Bluff; Loss About $1,250,000

Pine Bluff, Ark., November 28.—Approximately 15,000 bales of cotton stored in the warehouse of the Pine Bluff Compress company, were either destroyed or badly damaged by fire here today. The cotton, mostly of the long staple variety, was valued at $1,250,000. The origin of the fire had not been determined tonight.

Fire walls prevented the flames from communicating to the main building of the compress in which 10,000 additional bales were stored.

It was stated that the loss was fully covered by insurance.

An investigation as to the origin of the fire was not concluded tonight, but it was considered probable that sparks from a passing locomotive ignited the cotton.

quirements and of doing so at such prices as would induce the repetition of orders in Canada then confronted the government. The effect of government purchases in the open market, such as were made by different countries a year ago, is well known to the public. The market rises abnormally, adding to the profits of grain dealers and speculators, who have purchased the grain which the government requires. The advance in price of large amounts of grain in store becomes the loss of the purchasing government, and the profit not of the producer, but of the owner of the stored grain.

Scope of the Order.

"To secure the desired end this year the Dominion government determined Saturday to commandeer all Nos. 1, 2 and 3 northern wheat in store at the head of the lakes and eastward. This involves the purchase of anywhere from twelve to fifteen million bushels. The price paid has not yet been settled by the government, but will shortly be fixed on a fair basis. The commandeering order goes no farther than is stated above, and instructions have been given that all loading now under way is to be continued and no delay whatever occur in the transport of the commandeered grain from the elevators to ocean terminals. It will be observed that the order does not apply to grain in elevators west of the lakes, or in transit at the time the order takes effect, or subsequently thereto.

"There are, of course, many questions of important detail that arise and demand adjustments, and these will be given the fullest consideration and the promptest decision possible.

"There seems no reason why the grain markets should be radically affected by the action taken. Obviously it does not involve any increase in the world's consumers, or indeed, in the world's consumers' demand. It means simply the filling of the existing demand to the extent of the grain taken by this much of the Canadian surplus instead of filling the same from other surpluses. If the result should be a rise in the Canadian prices, then beneficial effect will largely accrue to the grain farmers themselves, and not to the holders of grain in store. While the holders of grain in store are entitled to fair treatment, it has been thought desirable not to precipitate market conditions at the expense of the customers, from whom we hope to obtain orders in the future, and who are our allies in the war.

"The action taken by the British government is based entirely on war conditions and the response of the Canadian government has been dictated by regard to the same state of facts."

EFFECT OF ORDER ON WHEAT PRICES.

Chicago, November 28.—The commandeering of from 12,000,000 to 15,000 bushels of northern wheat in storage at the head of the lakes and eastward by the Canadian government will have no permanent effect on prices in the United States, in the opinion of Robert McDougal, a prominent Chicago exporter.

"I dare say there will be a bit of a flurry on the local board of trade tomorrow while traders are adjusting their accounts, but that is all," said McDougal. "The British government has simply adopted a military method of purchasing 15,000,000 bushels of wheat. There is still an exportable surplus in Canada of 110,000,000 bushels, more or less, unaffected, apparently, by the order. No doubt the Dominion government will make satisfactory settlements with dealers who have contracts for the wheat seized."

HIGH PRICES FOR PRODUCERS.

Toronto, November 28.—Prominent Toronto grain merchants said tonight that the embargo on all the wheat in the elevators east of and including Fort William would create higher prices for the producer, but that the eastern dealers would be placed more or less at the mercy of the western farmers for wheat to fill the orders which were to have been filled by the wheat commandeered.

CHARGES ARE DENIED BY T. ST. JOHN GAFFNEY

Dismissed U. S. Consul General at Munich Going to Washington to Fight.

New York, November 28.—T. St. John Gaffney, until recently consul general for the United States at Munich, arrived here today on the steamship Oscar II. from Copenhagen. He said he would go to Washington Monday or Tuesday to take up the charges against him with the state department. Of these charges Gaffney said he was officially ignorant. In a written statement given out on his arrival here he said he was attacked in his absence 3,500 miles away, condemned without a hearing and his resignation asked.

Statement by Gaffney.

The statement in part follows:

"Mr. Gaffney thinks the trouble started with a story which The Morning Post of London printed August 12, based on a wire from its correspondent in Berne, to the effect that he had been rude to Americans and British in Munich. Fleet street correspondents cabled to papers in New York, one of which also printed that a New York Irishman attempted to send a secret letter to him by the Austrian consul general.

"Mr. Gaffney said that as far as he can classify them, the attacks are:

"Rudeness to Americans and British in Munich.

"Smuggling secret letter.

"Commending Berlin paper which attacked Wilson.

"Dining Sir Roger Casement.

"Approving newspaper attack on Bryan.

"He says that in the time of the mobilization his office was in necessary turmoil. The work increased ten-fold in four or five days. In a few days more the volume swelled again when British interests were committed to his charge. Willing, but untrained volunteers in the consulate may have occasionally been rude, but no complaint was made to him at the time. Personally he was uncivil to no one.

Knows Nothing of Secret Letter.

"Of the secret letter which it is alleged was handed in at the Austrian consulate general in New York city he knows nothing. Such was not received by him and if handed in he can not be held responsible, he says.

"As to the third charge, commending The Continental Times of Berlin, accused of attacking President Wilson, he says that he praised the paper's war book, not the paper. The war book contained articles by American professors and Theodore Roosevelt, and nothing attacking Wilson or the administration. The paper has denied editorially that he ever wrote for it.

"As for the fourth charge he says that he gave a private lunch for Professor George B. McClellan, former mayor of New York, at whose request he invited Sir Roger Casement. No speeches were made and Sir Roger's standing with Britain or Germany was not discussed.

"As to approving a newspaper attack on Bryan, Mr. Gaffney says that he knows nothing of either the attack or his alleged approval.

"He says that if these are not the charges on file at the state department he can not even conjecture what the charges are."

the panic, but rescued many persons. Afterward they helped the wounded.

"Only one shot was fired by the submarine. She remained alongside for five hours, or until all possible rescues had been made and the wounded had been attended. She then disappeared under the water and we proceeded to Alexandria without further incident.

"I did not learn her name or designating number, but she was one of the largest boats of her kind I have ever seen. The captain of the Sailor Prince told me that he recognized her as the one that had sunk his ship some hours previous, although at that time, he said, she flew the Austrian colors. Her deck armament consisted of two 12-pounders, which were in plain sight as she came alongside the Barulos. The Sailor Prince, her captain said, was given 20 minutes to get her crew into the boats before she was sunk by nine shots fired into her hold."

Available shipping records here do not contain the name of Barulos. This may be due to frequent changing of names and renaming of ships captured in the war zone.

BIG PEACE DELEGATION TO ACCOMPANY FORD

So Many Will Make Trip to Europe Another Steamer Has Been Chartered.

New York, November 28.—The response to the invitations of Henry Ford to accompany him to Europe in an endeavor to bring about peace among the warring nations has been so great, it was announced at Mr. Ford's headquarters here tonight, that additional accommodations have had to be obtained. It was announced Mr. Ford had chartered the first and second cabins of the Scandinavian-American liner Frederick VIII., in addition to quarters on the Oscar II., of the same line, already provided. The Frederick VIII. will sail from New York December 8.

Inability to leave their state business was the reason given by many governors for not promising to make the trip. Among the governors who said they were unable to go were Emmett D. Boyle, Nevada; Charles Henderson, Alabama; F. M. Byrne, South Dakota; Ernest Lister, Washington; Charles R. Miller, Delaware; S. V. Stewart, Montana; E. L. Philipp, Wisconsin; James E. Ferguson, Texas, and John B. Kendrick, Wyoming.

Among those accepting the invitation are Mrs. Joseph Fels, Philadelphia; Mrs. Helen Ring Robinson, Denver; the Rev. Charles F. Aked, San Francisco, and Arthur L. Wetherby, secretary of the Nebraska Peace society.

Governor Hall Declines.

New Orleans, La., November 28.—Governor Hall, of Louisiana, has declined Henry Ford's invitation to become a member of a peace commission to Europe, it was announced here today. It was stated that his official duties prevented the governor's participation.

SIXTEEN-YEAR-OLD GIRL KILLED BY MOTORCYCLE

Montgomery, Ala., November 28.—Stepping directly in front of a motorcycle as she stepped from between the wheels of a buggy in which she had been riding near here today, Mary K. Pritchett, a 16-year-old girl, was struck by the machine with such force that her skull was fractured. She died a short while later. Witnesses to the tragedy said it was entirely accidental.

Poles Are Photographed At Rate of 30,000 a Day By German Authorities

Berlin, November 28.—(By Wireless to Sayville.)—Two million persons have been ordered by the German governor general of Poland to have photographs taken, that passports may be issued to all more than fifteen years of age, according to the Overseas News agency. One million photographs already have been made and this number is being increased at the rate of 30,000 a day.

The work is being done by sixty photographers, with 250 assistants.

MOTHERS, TRY THIS ON YOUR BABIES

Why Torture Your Darlings With Irritating Vapors and Stifling Greases That You Can Hardly Endure Yourself?

Leave it to the kiddies and they will select Eucapine Salve, the new and improved pharmaceutical preparation that soothes instead of irritates, and heals instead of inflames. After the first trial it's fun to watch the kiddies doctor themselves—rubbing Eucapine up their nostrils for a bad cold, or putting it on the back of their tongues for a sore throat or tonsilitis; or rubbing it on their chests and throats for a deep-seated cough. Their faces almost instantly reflect the delightful relief it affords.

Ask your physician, and he will tell you that Eucapine Salve is by far the best and safest home remedy, for he knows that it combines the soothing, healing and antiseptic qualities of Eucalyptus, Wintergreen, Menthol, Camphor and Pinus Sylvestris, with refined Petrolatum as a basis. Delivered to any home in Atlanta day or night, or by mail postpaid to any address for 25c. Phone or address Coursey & Munn Drug Store, corner Broad and Marietta streets, Atlanta. Prepared only by Eucapine Chemical Co., Mfg. Pharmacists.—(adv.)

Williamson for Council

To the Citizens of Atlanta:

Responding to the request of many friends, I announce myself a candidate for council from the second ward, asking your suffrage in the general election next Wednesday.

I have been a resident of the city for twenty years, and refer you to my friends for evidence as to my capacity and fitness.

I am employed by the Southern Railway as conductor.

The entire city votes, and as the time is insufficient for me to make a canvass, I take the only available method of asking your support.

If honored with this position, I promise earnest, intelligent and faithful service.

I ask your vote and influence.

Very respectfully,
OSCAR H. WILLIAMSON.

Bradstreet and Dun Report Sustained Growth in Trade

Nearly Every Prospect Seems to Please, and the Year Is Ending With Rush of Business.

Increase in Business Movements and Volumes Reported From Widely Divergent Lines.

Bradstreet's report says:

Nearly every prospect seems to please, and a year that started under a cloud of uncertainty or depression is ending with productive energies moving at high speed. This week's reports, reflecting as they do cumulative growth in trade and industry, display a marked degree of snap, the situation in general being the best noted for a long time past. Misgivings as to the immediate future are negligible, in the leading industries operations are being pushed to the utmost, labor is scarcer, pay rolls are heavier, and a spell of cold weather, plus the increased spending power of the masses, has wrought marked improvement in retail trade, progress in which also is helped along by holiday buying. These factors in turn have brought reorders to jobbers from interior merchants, and over a wide area such purveyors as well as wholesale dealers are doing more than well.

Activity in the larger lines springs from good house trade, mail orders and sales by road agents. Things to eat and to wear are those most wanted, and various kinds of textiles are in short supply. America is reaching out for new foreign markets in which to sell the products of peace times, but in passing it is to be noted that while war's needs started things moving out of the rut of depression, foreign demand no longer overshadows domestic requirements, although it is to be conceded that our own consumers have come into the market at a time when anything but bargain prices prevail. In this connection it is significant that a leading railway has withdrawn an order for cars because of high prices.

Winter wheat has been helped by rain as well as by good weather, and estimates of decreased area are being whittled down. Freer marketing of grain and low rates for money have aided collections, but many grain growers are disposed to hold their wheat. Car congestion, especially at tide-water points, is increasing, the shortage of vessel space for exports aggravating the situation. Lumber continues to reflect improvement, export as well as domestic trade being prominent, and even points, as in the far northwest, which a while ago were strongly conservative, say that the outlook is more favorable than it has been for years, and southern timber lands are changing hands freely.

STEEL MILLS TURN DOWN MORE THAN THEY ACCEPT

At That, Business Taken Was in Excess of Mill Capacity.

New York, November 28.—More orders for rolled and forged steel were turned away last week than were accepted. Even at that the volume of new business accepted was in excess of mill capacity, indicating that present plant congestion will be further extended. Domestic machinery manufacturers were especially urgent for steel to cover contracts. Prices were up $1 to $2 on sheet bars, skelp, plates, bars and shapes, $2 on hoops and bands, $3 on spikes and shafting and $3 to $5 a ton on black and galvanized sheets.

There is reason to believe railroad equipment orders which came to the surface did not measure the full buying movement. Car shops reported orders for only 3,313 cars and car bodies, locomotive builders received orders for only 40 engines and rail contracts were confined to small miscellaneous lots, amounting to 10,000 tons for early shipment.

Manufacturers of war munitions bought 60,000 tons of forgings and 30,000 tons of round bars. Several new inquiries for ordnance were also in the market to be made to British and Russian specifications and for four-inch and 12-inch shells to French and British specifications.

The main feature is structural work was the placing of orders for manufacturing plant extensions, notably to the steel works themselves.

Pig iron again was active with sales in eastern and western Pennsylvania alone amounting to 125,000 tons. There also were large sales of steel scrap and of cast iron pipe, with other large contracts pending.

Condition of Treasury.

Washington, November 28.—The condition of the United States treasury Saturday was:

Net balance in general fund, $114,842,316.

Total receipts, 11,754,224.

Total payments, $1,431,784.

The deficit this fiscal year is $44,995,073, against $47,106,975, last year, exclusive of Panama canal and public debt transactions.

GERMANY IS BOASTING OF WORK OF SUBMARINES

Berlin, November 28.—(Via London.) Eighteen ships of 112,082 tonnage have been sunk by sumarines of the central powers in the Mediterranean, says an official statement issued here, denying a Petrograd report that the German cruiser Frauenlob has been sunk by an allied submarine. The report follows:

"The foreign press has stated, according to advices from Petrograd, that the small cruiser Frauenlob was sunk by an allied submarine. This is pure invention, as was the news regarding the sinking of a 3,000-ton cruiser by Russian torpedo boats.

"In the entente press much has been said lately regarding the success of English submarine warfare in the Baltic, while the U boat warfare of the central powers is considered unworthy of mention. The statement of results from November 1 to 15 follows:

"In the Baltic only the steamer Afsnomi, 1,016 tons, has been sunk, while in the Mediterranean, according to press reports up to date, 18 ships, representing 112,082 tons, were destroyed in the same period."

The report from Athens on October 26 that the Turkish transport Carmen, laden with munitions, had been sunk by a British submarine in the Sea of Marmora, was a pure invention, according to the Overseas agency.

BANK CLEARINGS IN UNITED STATES FOR THE PAST WEEK

Bank clearings in the United States for the past week, as reported to Bradstreet's Journal, New York, aggregate $3,614,581,000, against $4,942,553,000 the previous week and $2,188,752,000 in this week last year. Canadian clearings aggregate $195,575,000, as against $199,492,000 the previous week and $140,718,000 in this week last year.

APATHY FEATURE OF STOCK MARKET

War Shares Irregular, and Speculative Interest, It Is Evident, Has Undergone Further Elimination.

New York, November 28.—Apathy was the chief characteristic of a week on the stock market interrupted by the Thanksgiving holiday, sales falling far below those of recent weeks. War shares were irregular and it was evident speculative interest had undergone further elimination.

Industrials of the more representative class were in fair request, United States Steel again approaching its maximum price of recent years. Mills continue to operate to the extent of capacity. Metal shares made further response to the general betterment. This was true also of such oddly assorted stocks as General Motors and the sugar group.

Rails evinced a disposition to advance, but were checked to a degree by the persistent pressure upon New Haven, those shares making an extreme decline of eight points from last week's final figures. New Haven's heaviness resulted largely from an increasing realization of the road's financial needs. Additional October earnings submitted by the leading systems were not only the largest of recent years, but in several items of the operating account constituted record-breakers. It is expected that statements due next week will prove equally gratifying.

New financing by the railroads, including the $60,000,000 refunding issue of Baltimore and Ohio and the prospective sale of 100,000 preferred shares of Atchison to banking syndicates was regarded as the precursor of numerous similar undertakings. Greater monetary ease is an important factor in that quarter.

Foreign loans placed here since the outbreak of the war now exceed one billion dollars.

COTTON ADVANCED ON SPOT DEMAND

Rise Was About One Cent a Pound and Net Gain Was Seventy-One to Seventy-Four Points.

New Orleans, La., November 28.—The cotton market entered into a series of strong advances the middle of last week, closing within a few points of the top. The main influence at work was improvement in the spot demand, although bullish sentiment was stimulated by small crop talk and by expectations of bullish returns in the next ginning report. At the best of the week prices of the most active months were 83 to 86 points over the previous week's close. From the lowest to the highest there was a rise of 97 to 101 points, or almost exactly a cent a pound. The close was 71 to 74 points up, net.

Heavy spot trading in Liverpool, stiff advances in spot quotations in this and the New York market, increased interest in the staple on the part of the buyers and continued firmness of spot holders were features most prominently mentioned in the market news of the latter part of the week.

This week the spot situation is expected to be of more interest than ever because it is generally thought developments will show more cotton has been sold in the interior than bearishly inclined traders have been willing to admit. The bulls, however, will be hampered to some extent by the ocean freight market, which has been strong for the last few days with a tendency to climb to what most shippers think are unreasonable levels. Bearish traders expect the freight market to become worse before it can improve because of the great congestion of freight at the large ports. Inability to move cotton would not altogether stand in the way of fresh buying of spots, since buyers could store in this country, a proceeding which bulls claim has been done on a much larger scale than is generally realized and which they think will play an important part in the near future since it would mean that not as much cotton is for sale as indicated by stocks held in this country.

INCREASE IN BUILDING IN GEORGIA EXPECTED

Financial Conditions in Georgia Are Excellent, According to E. D. Pakenham.

"Big eastern material firms are preparing for an enormous increase next year in southern building operations," said E. D. Pakenham, of New York city, who is now at the Winecoff hotel.

Mr. Pakenham is on a tour of the south for his firm, the H. W. Johns-Manville company, one of the largest material supply houses doing business in Canada and the United States. He is manager of the building material department. He has been sent south to look into the financial situation here.

"I find that conditions in the south are about normal again," said Mr. Pakenham, "and I look for twice as much building in 1916 as this year. I find Georgia in excellent shape. Our Macon, Ga., representative reports to me that he is expecting to handle twice as much building material as this year.

"Reports from all sections of Georgia indicate that big building enterprises are being planned for 1916. Large mills and factories that have made no additions in the last fourteen months are going to get into the building field again, and the building industry will be on a boom once more.

"The effect of the European war will no longer be felt in any degree in the south."

Mr. Pakenham will proceed during the day to Birmingham and Montgomery, Ala., where he expects to look into the building prospects of Alabama.

AID THE UNFORTUNATE, URGES B. R. HOLMES

"Every person should give to the unfortunate people and to the cause of education, as he has been blessed with the riches of this world," was the subject of an addres delivered by B. R. Holmes, president of the Holmes institute, to a congregation of colored citizens Sunday morning in the Butler Street Colored Methodist Episcopal church. "The holidays are coming, and many people are preparing to give presents to their loved ones and their friends. It is the duty of every person to help make some unfortunate person happy during the Christmas holidays. There will be enough money spent for dances, whisky and beer to make all the unfortunate people comfortable the remainder of their days. Great preparations are being made by the colored people to help those who are in need of help during the winter."

Gardner Savage, of North Anson, Me., although totally blind for many years, is a telegraph operator and can take apart and repair his instrument whenever necessary.

GREAT WORK IN THE WAR BY AMERICAN RED CROSS

Berne, November 28.—Deep appreciation of the participation of the United States in Red Cross work in the European war is expressed in the last bulletin in the International Red Cross, which says American organizations everywhere have held first place among the foreign ambulances. During the first year of the war the United States sent to Europe 71 surgeons and physicians and 253 nurses. This staff worked in France, Belgium, Russia, Germany, Austria and Serbia.

"In Serbia," the bulletin will say, "the American Red Cross contributed most effectively to the extirpation of the epidemic of typhus fever." The total expenses of the American ambulances during the first year of the war amounted to $1,460,306.

GERMANY IS PLANNING BIG TAX ON WAR PROFITS

At Least 50 Per Cent of Profits to Be Taken by the Government.

Berlin, November 28.—(Via London.) The text of the preliminary law paving the way for taxing the war profits of joint stock companies and corporations was printed yesterday. The project was drafted by the federal council. The bill compels stock companies and other judicial persons to carry as reserve 50 per cent of the additional profits made during the period of the war, thus holding them as a reserve for taxation under the ultimate bill. Explanatory matter shows that the government does not intend to collect this tax during the war, but to levy it after the close of the war in connection with an increment tax on property foreseen in connection with the war levy tax bill of 1913.

Under the plans then contemplated all persons in the empire would be required to make a return on property and income as on January 1, 1917, and to pay taxes on the increase over a similar statement returned in January, 1914. This period could not be better selected for obtaining estimates on war property.

To Prevent Evasion.

The preliminary bill has been drafted so as to prevent any evasion of its intent on the part of the companies and corporations by concealing their profits through bookkeeping or distribution. Before the law goes into effect those companies seeking to evade its provisions will be compelled to take from their surplus profit in succeeding years, to bring the reserve up to the required figure. The measure prescribes as "war years" the business year wherein January 10, 1914, falls on the two succeeding years. The normal profit of a company or corporation is figured on the basis of the average profits of the three years preceding the war and half of all profits above that must go in the special reserve fund.

Foreign companies, includnig American corporations doing business in Germany, come within the operation of the law, but only to the extent of their profits made on German business.

Not to Exceed 50 Per Cent.

The law gives no intimation on how much of the war profits the state will demand in taxation beyond indicating that they will not exceed 50 per cent. Even this percentage is not enough to satisfy certain ardent advocates of this tax who have been demanding that the government appropriate all war profits.

The general expectation, however, is that the ultimate measure will cut very deeply into such profits within the limits of the 50 per cent maximum. There has been some question as to why the government did not content itself with striking the profits in the hands of individuals to whom corporation profits ultimately are payable in dividends, but the authorities evidently considered the risk of the large amount of justly due revenues slipping through their fingers was so great as to justify possible injustice and inconvenience of double taxation, since dividends and partnership profits once distributed, could take shapes difficult to be discerned by the eye of the tax collector.

A considerable part of war profits, as is already shown among army contractors, disappears in increased standards of living, while other enterprising individuals have been laying away a share of their gains in diamonds, jewelry, expensive clothing for wives, costly rugs, pictures and other non-taxable articles. German jewelers, rug dealers and other merchants have in consequence been doing a boom business since the advent of the war-profit area.

Rural Germans Extravagant.

It is noted at expensive Berlin hotels that patrons from the country districts, who formerly contented themselves with modest rooms, are now demanding the most expensive suits and the highest priced fare, while the Berlin dressmaker is today the busiest of the trades people, notwithstanding the absence of all social gaiety.

The new war tax measure is expected to affect favorably the German war loans, since the government announces that the tax may ultimately be paid in war bonds, and intimates in accompanying memorandum that such paper offers favorable investment for the required reserves. It is understood that the bill will not be considered at the December sitting of the reichstag, but will be taken up at the session in February or March. The bill is expected to pass with little or no opposition.

CAPTURE OF GORIZIA IMPORTANT TO ITALY

Strategical Value of Stronghold Is Stressed by Veteran of Franco-Prussian War.

From the following article submitted to The Constitution by H. C. Sommer, of 451 Washington street, himself a veteran of the French army during the Franco-Prussian war, in the seventies, may be gathered an idea of the strategical importance of Gorizia, which, according to dispatches this morning, has fallen into the hands of the Italians.

"The capture of Gorizia," says Mr. Sommer, who is familiar with the entire Tyrol country, means not only the open road to Trieste and the control of the Adriatic, but deprives Austria of a very formidable stronghold, by means of which she has been able to hold the Italians in check for five months.

Mr. Sommer also gives an interesting description of the country through which the Italians and the Austrians have been fighting.

"It is now close to six months," says Mr. Sommer, "since the Italians started their tremendous undertaking of hacking their way through the Alps against the Austrians, in their effort to reach the Trentino. The Italians have seemed to travel slowly, but to traverse the country in which they are fighting is a very difficult undertaking. It is very mountainous, and to give a good idea to one unfamiliar with it, it may be compared with the mountains of West Virginia, along the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, from Cumberland, Md., to Wheeling, W. Va.

"Among these great mountains are conceded some of the loveliest places in Europe; for instance, the soaring zigzag way to Stelvio pass and the serpentine Mendel road are two famed routes for motor mountain climbing in south Tyrol. Some of the most beautiful thoroughfares in Switzerland are not open to motorists, and elsewhere in Europe's mountain country there are few such excellent roads to be found as those (first started by the great Napoleon and later improved by the Austrians). On many stretches along these mountain avenues are long sections of solid masonry, tunnels to guard against avalanches (not unlike our snowsheds on the Northern Pacific railroad); in other places the roads, blasted through rock, creep up barren cliffs, and, beyond an outside rail of stone, the sheer mountain wall falls thousands of feet to the valley below.

"This mountain country breeds a sturdy people. The Tyroleses have been noted throughout all history for their fighting qualities. From among them Austria has received one of her great national heroes—Andreas Hofer, the George Washington of the Tyrol. Hofer, a man of powerful build and gifted with a natural eloquence, was a simple hearted peasant, a Tyrolese innkeeper. Yet he beat, with his undrilled levies, Lefebre, a veteran marshal of Napoleon, though his 18,000 mountaineers were opposed by 25,000 allied Bavarians and French. Napoleon had transferred Tyrol, loyal for centuries to the house of Hapsburg, to the king of Bavaria. This was the price of Austerlitz. When war broke out anew in 1809, Hofer led the Tyrolese to victory in three great battles against Napoleon and his allies.

"South Tyorl is a wonderland of romance, legend and natural beauty. At the outbreak of the war south Tyrol was truly international. Americans, Frenchman, Englishman, Germans, Austrians and Italians owned their villas and chateaux there.

"Down towards the valley of Oslavia lies Gorizia, which for its strength owes as much to its situation as it does to the armament with which it has been supplied by the Austrian engineers. The city nestles in a pocket of the Isonzo, but on the steep hills by which it is surrounded are the forts, equipped with the heaviest ordnances, that have thundered defiance to the Italian hosts. In the natural trenches of the Corso, dug in the chalky rock by the rains of centuries, the Austrian infantry has found a favorable resting place, from which it could be dislodged only with difficulty and by large expenditures of ammunition and life.

"From latest reports Gorizia has at last fallen to the Italians.

"If the city has really fallen, the road to Trieste lies open, and the capture of that seaport would give Italy unquestioned control of the Adriatic. The Austrian naval base of Pola could scarcely be defended from the land, and with the Italian fleet in the offing, much shipping would fall into Italian hands.

"Nor is this all, because of the natural advantages of the situation of Gorizia, Austria has been able to check the Italian advance for five months with relatively small force. Much larger forces would be needed to withstand the advance should Gorizia fall, for northward and eastward lies Vienna and to the southeast Fiume and the road to Serbia and Greece; in such event Austria must recall troops from the Russian and Serbian fronts to defend its own territory."

NO GERMAN TERRITORY TO BE GIVEN DENMARK

London, November 28.—A Copenhagen dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph company says:

"The German government, in a proclamation issued at Schleswig (capital of the province of Schleswig-Holstein), referring to the reversion of this territory to Denmark after the war, either as a gift from Germany's enemies or as a reward from Germany for Denmark's neutrality, states that military operations do not encourage the speculation that Germany can give anything away, and it would be unfair to Denmark to suppose the maintenance of her strict neutrality should be dictated by hope of foreign payment."

Schleswig-Holstein is a province of Prussia, formed out of the duchies of Schleswig, Holstein and Laurenburg, formerly belonging to Denmark, by which country it is bounded on the north. The area is 7,328 square miles and about one-tenth of the inhabitants are Danes.

Schleswig, long an object of contention between the Germans and the Danes, passed into the possession of the kings of Denmark in the eleventh century. In 1864, Prussia and Austria wrested the duchies from Denmark. The victory over Austria in 1866 enabled Prussia to incorporate these regions into her dominions.

Carnot's Grandson Honored.

Paris, November 28.—Pierre Cunisset Carnot, grandson of the late President Carnot, has been cited a second time in orders of the day for gallantry. As an artillery observer in an exposed position during the battle of Champagne he furnished valuable information.

SWITZERLAND IN ROLE OF "GOOD SAMARITAN"

Suffering From War Herself, She Is Relieving Sufferings of Her Neighbors.

Berne, Switzerland, November 16.—(Corespondence of the Associated Press.)—Switzerland, surrounded on all sides by warring nations, obliged herself to arm against possible violations of her territory, forced into an economic neutrality in which she is scarcely able to suit anybody while suffering a great deal of harm herself, finds only one role that pleases everyone—that of the "Good Samaritan of Europe," relieving the suffering her neighbors are causing to each other's subjects. The burden of maintaining communication between several million prisoners of war and their kindred fell upon the Red Cross committee of Geneva. Switzerland also rushed to the frontiers loaded with refreshments and comforts for refugees and mutilated soldiers, returning home through her neutral territory. What this has cost Switzerland in money cannot be reckoned. What it has lost commercially and financially in other directions it is difficult to estimate beyond the millions that her mobilization has cost her.

Sensitive About Suspicion.

The Swiss people are particularly sensitive over the suspicions they have been exposed to by reason of their geographical position. The varied character of the population and the resulting division of sympathies in the conflict. There has undoubtedly been some contraband, but no more than there would have been in any other country where private gain is tempted by high paid risks. A great deal of contraband has been prevented. By reason of commercial treaties Switzerland was unable to prevent the transportation across her territory of enormous quantities of merchandise that Italy sent to Germany in exchange for coal before she declared war on Austria. The inspection of that merchandise to detect contraband of war was a formidable task.

Regarding suspicions in France that importations from that country into Switzerland went to supply the Germans, the Swiss people point out that these importations for the first quarter of 1915 were sixty million francs less than for the first quarter of 1914. At the same time they complain of the stoppage by France of goods from across the Atlantic that were indispensable for the provisioning of the population and for the operation of their industries. These complaints were naturally more bitter from the German part of Switzerland.

From the beginning of the war Switzerland has been obliged to appeal constantly to the good will of both groups of powers at war, while being at the same time tugged at from many different directions by as many conflicting interests. All this is what made possible, even necessary, the idea of an importing trust which bears the name of the Swiss Society of Economic Supervision. This, it is hoped, will remove the friction; it will not, of course, indemnify Switzerland for her direct outlays of a hundred million dollars in mobilization expenses, her charitable work nor her indirect losses in business stagnation. Her mobilization costs her an average of eight million dollars a month; if the war last two years the total will be nearly two hundred million dollars.

What Switzerland Has Lost.

What Switzerland has lost in receipts from tourists was shown by the decrease of six million dollars in the receipts of federal railroads from August to December, 1914.

In July, 1914, the number of tourists registered at Zurich was 33,886; this year in the same month there were only 12,885 visitors. At Lausanne there were 8,670 guests registered in July, 1914; this year there was only 2,090.

Professor Seipel is quoted as saying: "If the anguish of the somber European tragedy didn't weigh so heavily on our hearts and consciences, life would never have been so agreeable in Switzerland as at present. We are like a little family that has bid adieu to its boarders and found it charming intimacy again." The hotelkeepers are unable to look upon the situation with the same philosophy. All of them are in financial distress—some of them in desperate straits exposed to the ruinous competition of new houses or of old houses that may be bought at ruinous terms after peace that may be declared. Their situation prompted the suggestion of a hotel monopoly in order to improve the security to banks who are asked to renew advances.

All business in luxuries has been tried particularly.

In July, 1915, only 25,043 gold watchcases were stamped as compared to 67,060 in July, 1914.

WILSON AND FIANCEE SPEND QUIET SUNDAY

New York, November 28.—President Wilson spent today quietly in New York visiting with his fiancee, Mrs. Norman Galt. He planned to leave shortly after midnight. Mrs. Galt will remain over to complete her trousseau for her wedding next month.

The president left the home of Colonel E. M. House, where he spent the night, before 10 o'clock this morning, called for Mrs. Galt at the home of a friend, where she is stopping, and motored with her up Fifth avenue to the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian church. Secretary of State Lansing and Secretary of the Navy Daniels also were in the congregation. The president had lunch with Mrs. Galt, Miss Helen Woodrow Bones and Dr. Cary T. Grayson, his naval aide, and afterward called on his sister, Mrs. Anne Howe, at her home.

Outside the hotel a man who pushed forward toward the president was seized by city detectives and detained until Mr. Wilson had entered his automobile. The detectives were convinced that the man merely was curious.

For more than an hour the president and Mrs. Galt motored along Riverside drive. At the conclusion of the drive Mrs. Galt went to her friend's home and Mr. Wilson went to the home of Colonel House. Later the president called on Mrs. Galt before leaving for his train.

GERMANY TAKES STEPS TO END FEED SHORTAGE

Berlin, November 28.—(Via London.) The opening of the water transportation route of the Danube from the Balkans has enabled the government to take steps to end a shortage of feed and fodder which has been in effect since last February. The relief measures take the shape of an offer to deliver to farmers feed for some 500,000 swine at a price which will enable the farmers to deliver fattened swine to municipalities and commune at a price somewhat under the present maximum, and at the same time provide for a reasonable profit.

It is realized that the supply of feed is not large enough for the entire empire, and the government will, therefore, direct the distribution to localities most in need. These include the industrial districts with their large laboring population, where there is a heavy consumption of meat fats. It is expected that this imported fodder will be sold at a loss, which will be borne by the state. Should it be possible to import larger quantities of fodder the number of swine which the farmers will be enabled to fatten under a pledge to sell at fixed prices will be increased.

Killed in Jitney Accident.

Pittsburg, Pa., November 28.—A. N. McNutt, and an unidentified woman about 50 years old, were killed tonight and four persons were seriously injured, one probably fatally, when a train struck a jitney bus at Tarentum, 20 miles north of here.

GOVERNMENT TO RESUME SURVEY FOR RESERVOIR

Work Only Conditioned on Favorable Commercial Report on River.

Columbus, Ga., November 28.—(Special.)—As unexpectedly as came the order to cut all work on the Chattahoochee river, comes the assurances from the board of engineers of the war department that if the commercial report on the river warrants it, the government will order the resumption of the survey for a reservoir at Pumpkinton ferry and the submitting of estimates as to cost.

The assurances of the completion of the survey which was cut off with the order to stop all work, comes through Congressman W. C. Adamson. He states that the survey will be made if the commercial report shows up that there is enough commerce to be handled on the river. That the commercial report will show this is a foregone conclusion, as it already shows that to carry all of the freight in the Chattahoochee valley it will take hundreds of boat trips annually.

Monday week John T. Davis, president of the church of commerce; John S. Bleecker, president of the Columbus Power company; Fred B. Gordon, president of the Columbus Manufacturing company; Leland J. Henderson, secretary of the chamber of Commerce, and P. M. Churchill, consulting engineer of the government, will leave for Washington to appear before the board of engineers of the war department, and to attend the sessions of the national rivers and harbors congress to be in session in Washington, D. C.

Primary Election.

Columbus, Ga., November 28.—(Special.)—On Tuesday of this week the primary election for eight aldermen and a mayor will be held. There is no opposition excepting in two of the wards, when in the third ward Dr. W. F. Whitehead is running against W. L. Williams, who is not in the council, and in the eighth ward where four candidates are running for one place.

The registration is exceptionally large, however, for the small amount of opposition, and in the two contested places some close races are expected.

Making Road Maps.

Columbus, Ga., November 28.—(Special.)—A. J. Armstrong, of the Georgia Chamber of Commerce, is in the city in the interest making a log of the roads of the county and vicinity to go in the book he is preparing to show the roads of the county.

Belk Lectures Monday.

Columbus, Ga., November 28.—(Special.)—Monday night, at the Young Men's Christian association, Dr. S. R. Belk, lecturer and evangelist, will talk to the association members and their friends on the occasion of a membership rally.

Many Courts in Session.

Columbus, Ga., November 28.—(Special.)—With the announcement of the extra session of the superior court to convene on the first Monday in January, it has developed that on that day there will be four courts, with county and state jurisdiction, in session at the same time, and in addition the police court, and the grand jury will be looking over the several matters of crime brought to their attention.

These courts are the recess term of the superior court, the regular term of the county court, the first term of the municipal court and the court of ordinary.

With seventy-six jurors summoned in the extra session for duty, twenty-four in the muunicipal court, forty-eight in the city court and twenty-three at work on the grand jury, there will be 171 jurors on duty. Other officers of the courts, including judges, clerks, sheriff, deputy sheriff, bailiffs, solicitors and stenographers, with witnesses, will bring about as large a crowd at the courthouse as ever gathered there.

Many Charges on Negro.

Columbus, Ga., November 28.—(Special.)—James Brown, a negro, woke this morning charged with about as many crimes as he could gather unto himself in one day's work. There are five different charges and none of them are for the same offense.

To start off the evening, the negro was stealing chickens and was caught in the act by a bailiff. He was found to be carrying a smoke gun about three feet long, and it was unregistered. Simple larceny, carrying a concealed pistol and having a pistol without a license were docketed against him.

That seemed enough for one negro, but then it developed that he was the negro who stole three pair of shoes from the Land & Miller Show Co., so the charge of larceny from the house was placed against him. It was then further discovered that he had forged the name of Judge N. A. Brown to an order, and so the charge of forgery was added to the others.

The negro and the five charges will face Justice of the Peace Reynolds tomorrow morning to be tried on them, and ordered held to the action of the grand jury.

Sues on Two Counts.

Columbus, Ga., November 28.—(Special.)—Alleging that on two separate occasions, first on September 3, and then on November 13, he was injured in the Bibb Manufacturing company cotton mills, Leon Lafkowitz, a weaver, filed suit against the company yesterday afternoon for $10,000.

The suits allege that pieces of looms flew out and struck him in the first instance, injuring his arm, and in the second instance striking him in the eye, and inpairing his eyesight, and leaving him subject to severe headaches. His attorneys are McCutcheon & Bowden, and the suit is returnable to the city court.

MORTUARY

Mrs. Mary B. Duffy, aged 69 and a native of Carlinford, Ireland, died Sunday at her residence, 163 Central avenue. The body was removed to Bloomfield's chapel. Mrs. Duffy is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Mary C. Kelly and Miss Carrie T. Duffy, and one grandson, Francis B. Kelly.

Mrs. Antonie Young.

Mrs. Antonie Young, aged 85, died Sunday at the residence of her grandson, Frederick Mylius. The body was removed to the chapel of Harry G. Poole.

FRENCH HONOR MEMORY OF MISS EDITH CAVELL

Paris, November 28.—An impressive ceremony in honor of the memory of Miss Edith Cavell, the British nurse executed by the Germans in Belgium, was held today at the Trocadero under auspices of the League for the Rights of Man. President Poincare and Mme. Poincare and many prominent in the life of France, as well as the leaders of the British colony, attended.

Speakers were Professor Paul Painleve and Ferdinand Buisson. Among the poems read was one written for the occasion by Andre Dumas.

The cork oak of Spain is said to grow best in the poorest soil, thus proving itself first cousin to the grouch.

EMPEROR YOSHIHITO RETURNS TO TOKIO

Tokio, November 28.—Accompanying the imperial shrine in a cortege which was a replica of that which departed for Kioto on November 11, Emperor Yoshihito returned to his capital today after an absence of three weeks. He drove to the palace through streets packed with silent multitudes. Cheering was forbidden by the police, who desired to maintain a note of reverence. The procession was viewed by many Americans, including bluejackets from the United States cruiser Saratoga, flagship of the Asiatic fleet, who are cordially received everywhere. Vice Admiral Kato and his staff visited Rear Admiral Winterhalter, on the Saratoga, and thanked the United States, through him, for participating in the naval review.

The coming week will be filled with festivities. American and Japanese officers will mingle at receptions arranged by United States Ambassador Guthrie, Lieutenant Commander Horne, naval attache at the United States embassy, and Vice Admiral Kato.

POSSES ARE SEARCHING FOR SLAYER OF DEPUTY

Dothan, Ala., November 28.—Posses of deputy sheriffs were scouring this county all day today in an effort to locate Graves Kelly, son of T. E. Kelly, state representative from Houston county, who the officers charge shot and killed Grady Granger, a deputy sheriff Saturday night.

Young Kelly is accused of the shooting by Taylor Spivey, who claims to have been in the buggy with Kelly at the time he shot the deputy. The shooting occurred when Granger attempted to search Kellys' buggy for whisky.

JAPAN OPPOSES CHINA ENTERING THE ENTENTE

Tokio, November 29.—Japanese opinion as expressed here is antagonistic to China entering into an alliance with the triple entente powers. Such a development is considered inimical to the doctrine that Japan should hold the predominating role in China and the Orient.

The report that Great Britain was directly seeking an alliance with China was followed by an announcement that Great Britain had informed Japan that Great Britain had no intentions of entering into political negotiations with China without previous negotiations with Japan.

A. P. CORRESPONDENT WOUNDED IN RUSSIA

Petrograd, November 28.—Walter C. Whiffen, head of the Petrograd bureau of the Associated Press, has been wounded slightly at the Russian front. He was struck in the thigh by an explosive bullet. Mr. Whiffen was in the company of a Russian general, who saw that he had immediate medical attention.
